Soviet Seen Lagging On Cuba Troop Exodus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union appears to have fallen behind in fulfillment of its promise to get several thousand troops out of Cuba by mid-March but indications are that a large group will be leaving Havana this week-end.

The U.S. government is keeping a close watch on the situation. For the past several days normally informative officials have declined to discuss numbers of troops have left Cuba so far. The problem appears to be one of analyzing and checking intelligence reports to determine exactly what has happened.

According to the best information available in official quarters here, the situation presently is this:

Since the removal promise was made to the United States Feb. 18, about 1,800 or 1,900 persons have left Cuba on four Soviet ships. The latest of those vessels to sail, the Gruzia, left Havana Sunday. It was reported by the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda to be carrying aviation mechanics, artillery experts, engineering troops and tank soldiers.

Another Soviet ship, the 15,286-ton Admiral Najimov, is in Havana harbor and there are reports in the Cuban capital it will depart this week-end with about 2,000 Soviet military specialists.

So far as U.S. authorities are concerned the number of people who have sailed on Soviet ships during the past four weeks—around 1,800 or 1,900—is considered fairly definite but the identification of those departing is by no means certain. For example, it is assumed here that many undoubtedly were Soviets, but some could have been Cubans going to the Soviet Union. Some could also have been Soviet civilian advisers to the Castro government.

Officials said a definitive statement here on the situation is unlikely until all reports have been carefully sifted and more hard facts are available.

The big Soviet military buildup in Cuba which began last July resulted in the influx of an estimated 22,000 officers and men. After Premier Khrushchev pulled out his big nuclear missiles and nuclear-capable jet bombers in November an estimated 5,000 Soviet troops were withdrawn, leaving around 17,000.

Cuba Exile Flood Is Hurting Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The flood of Cuban exiles has brought economic distress to this city of refuge and the only solution is a stepped-up resettlement program that will spread the load over other parts of the nation.

This was the gist of testimony Thursday at a hearing called by Florida congressmen Dante Fascell and Claude Pepper to determine just how serious the problem has become and how it can be corrected.

A wave of fear swept through Miami's huge Cuban colony when the hearing was announced.

"The refugees fear that we have entered into a policy of co-existence with Castro Cuba," said Wendell Rollason, director of the Inter-American Affairs Commission, a private organization concerned with problems of the exiles.

Fascell and Pepper asked each Cuban witness to assure his people that the United States government is dedicated to the overthrow of Castro and the return of freedom to Cuba.

He asked that the Cubans be told also that the hearing did not grow out of any feeling of hostility but "out of the need to help our own people who are in distress."

There was conflicting testimony over how many Cubans are in Miami and how many have moved into jobs formerly held by Floridians.

Labor leaders testified that the Cubans were forcing Americans out of jobs by accepting standard wages, had worked as strike breakers, and had created "a simmering situation that could explode at any time."

Negro leaders pleaded for help, declaring that so many of their people had been thrown out of work that hunger was more widespread than it was during the great depression.

"Many Negroes have lost their homes," said Neal Adams, operator of a grocery store in one Negro district. "Negroes are cooking over outside fires because they can't pay fuel bills. Negro children are being taken out of school because they have no shoes."

"Robberies are increasing, but these are bread robberies. Our people must eat. They come into my store every day begging for credit and for the scraps I throw in my garbage cans."

Harry Tyson, director of the Miami office of the Florida State Employment Service, estimated that Cubans have taken over 50,000 jobs, mostly from Negroes and unskilled whites.

Rollason said 22,000 Cubans are working, 8,000 in jobs created by Cuban capital brought into this country.

There was a wide difference of opinion on the number of refugees still in this metropolitan area of a million population.

J. Arthur Lazell, deputy director of the Cuban Refugee Center, said 56,000 have been resettled in other states and counties, leaving about 104,000 in the area. Rollason said 200,000 fled to Miami and 140,000 remain.

Roberto Suero, president of the Cuban Chamber of Commerce in exile, said the Cubans are aware that they have created unrest and friction, but he said some of this could be blamed on Castro agents who have infested the area, trying to build up bad feeling.

U.S. To Press Case against Auto Company

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Federal authorities, losers in one skirmish of their antitrust battle against General Motors, pushed ahead today on another front against the nation's largest corporation.

U.S. Judge Thurmond Clarke acquitted the automotive giant Thursday in a criminal suit that defendants claimed threatened the franchise system.

The Justice Department contended General Motors illegally restrained trade by conspiring with dealers' associations to stop sale of Chevrolet cars to discount houses.

The same complaint, prosecutors announced after acquittal, will be pursued as a civil matter in a suit filed earlier, as a parallel to the criminal complaint.

Judge Clarke said he agreed with the Justice Department that consumers must be protected, but added that the rights of industry must be protected also.

The judge quoted the late Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes: "Let people manage their own business in their own way, unless there grounds for interference is very clear."

"If that advice is heeded by both the courts and the government," Judge Clarke went on, "I am confident that the United States will continue to be free, strong and prosperous."

NOT IN HARMONY — Jane Burns avoids photographers, but later said in Ottawa that she, as president of the local "Sweet Adelines," is appealing to international headquarters in Tulsa, Okla., over the banning of Mrs. Lana Clowes, a Negro, from competition. A wave of resignations threatens to break up the Ottawa group.

State May End Tax Stamps On Bottles of Beer, Wine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Bottles or cans of beer or wine bought in Ohio may have a new look soon.

The legislature apparently is going to dispense with stamps or crowns indicating that the state tax on the contents has been paid. The state tax, of course, will continue to be collected. Only the visible evidence of the tax will be missing. Estimated saving to the state: $500,000 a year.

The Ohio House passed a measure eliminating the stamps and crowns Thursday before adjourning for the weekend. It now goes to the Senate.

Both houses will reconvene Monday night to receive both the state of the state message from Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes and his proposed state budget for the next two years.

The address, to be made in person, will signal the real beginning of the legislative session. Until now, nothing of real importance has happened because lawmakers have had no idea how much money will be available to carry out their ideas.

Rhodes has promised the budget he submits will be balanced and will not involve new or increased taxes.

In deference to the governor's all-important pronouncement with regard to money matters, the House has decided to postpone for one week its previously announced deadline of Monday night on bill introductions.

Thursday's legislative action was limited, as is usual for a Thursday, to relatively routine measures.

The House passed, 107-7, a bill to shift the burden of support for illegitimate children from taxpayers to their fathers. The measure would only affect children born to married women not fathered by husbands. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Among bills introduced — the total now stands at 915 — was one to appropriate $250,000 to build an army in Logan.

Once Around Roundtown

IT WAS bound to happen... When photography became a popular hobby early in the present century, drugstores were among the first businesses to handle photographic supplies...

Since then films, cameras, projectors and other supplies have become almost standard merchandise for the druggist...

Now the cycle is apparently beginning to reverse itself... Beaver Studio, the local camera shop, has added battery-powered, automatic tooth brushes to its line...

The next logical step is tooth paste, and then antiseptics and soon you have another drugstore.

SPRING HAS almost sprung... Or it appears that way at least... We hope the weatherman doesn't pull any hidden punches...

St. Pats Day is not the only sign of green hereabouts... A close look over the landscape discloses this year's spread of grass is on its way, perhaps more in some places than others, but nonetheless a welcome sight...

All this sunshine offers a happy outlook to fishermen, mushroom hunters, anxious gardeners and the like, although moon and all her spring housecleaning may take a rather dim view...

And the City Service Department probably will take the cue to set its schedule for an all-out effort to clean local streets following the long, hard winter...

And other signs of spring abound... One in particular is the Spring Opening sales event, scheduled next Thursday by local retail merchants.

AN ADDITIONAL sure sign of spring... Both drive-in theaters open tonight for the first time this season and will continue to operate on weekends only until the weather makes a complete break...

The North Auto Theater, on old Route 23 north of Circleville, and the Starlight Cruise-In Theater, on the Stoutsville Pike, have double features billed for this weekend with cooperation from the weatherman...

Extremes of 36-60 are expected today with temperatures climbing to near 70 tomorrow.

Benhase Is Named Head Grid Coach At Hanover College

By STEVE JONES

Carl K. Benhase, head football coach at Circleville High School the last four years, has been named head grid and track mentor at Hanover College, Hanover, Ind.

The announcement was made today by Hanover Athletic Director Raymond F. (Dutch) Struck.

Benhase will also be an instructor in physical education there. He will replace Leo Kelly, who resigned last December as grid coach.

In announcing his resignation, effective at the close of the 1962-63 school year, the personable CHS coach said although he was looking forward to the position at Hanover he and his family will regret leaving Circleville and the many friends they have made here.

HE CITED the fine cooperation of the faculty, the school board, the Booster Club and the other football coaches as a key to the success of the football program at CHS.

During his four year tenure here Benhase has guided the Tiger gridgers to an overall record of 27 wins, 10 losses and two ties.

In 1961 Circleville won a share of the South Central Ohio League crown. This past season Benhase guided his squad to a perfect 10-0 slate — and the first undisputed SCO championship for a Tiger team since 1950.

Circleville scored a total of 348 points on the way to the championship. Opponents were held to 36.

Two members of the team Garold Dade and Cleson Thomas made the first team All-Ohio unit. A third, Dave Hannans, made the third team and two more, Larry

Bidault Shuns Any Trade for His Security

STEINEBACH, Germany (AP)—French ex-Premier Georges Bidault said today he will not trade his political struggle for security.

He added that he still considers himself the leader of the opposition to French President Charles de Gaulle.

Bidault was interviewed shortly after Bavarian authorities announced he would have to agree to asylum in West Germany. Bavarian Interior Minister Heinrich Junker had said that such conditions would include limitation of his movements and a permanent police escort.

"I am rather hesitant to make any comment, but I will certainly not trade political activity for security," Bidault said.

"I am the leader of the Council of National Resistance; I am the boss of it all."

Bidault, in a letter made public today, asked the Bavarian government what conditions would be attached to asylum in Germany but did not make the formal request for asylum. He said centuries-old tradition permits political refugees to continue their activities from the country giving them shelter.

"I always have my eyes set on the just cause even if this leads me to the end of the world," he wrote.

City Jail Prisoner Is Hired as City Aide

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—John George has done such a good job cleaning the City Hall floors while serving a short jail term that City Commissioner George McNally commented: "We can't let that man go."

McNally proposed Thursday that when George finishes his jail term in a few days, the commission hire him as City Hall janitor. The commission agreed.

6 Nations Set for Talks

Latin Leader Wants More than Words

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Costa Rican President Francisco Orlich expects next week's presidential meeting here to take effective measures to provide economic aid to Central America and to curb the spread of Castroism.

Security agents busied themselves with protective measures for President Kennedy and the five other chief executives.

But Orlich, in Costa Rican tradition, moved through crowds downtown Thursday night without a bodyguard or security agent, chatting informally with well-wishers.

Visiting the conference press center, he described Castroism as "a problem of the entire continent" and said Costa Rica favors collective action against the Castro regime.

But he added: "In the case of Costa Rica, our aid in putting an end to such a regime can only be moral aid. (Costa Rica's only army is a 1,200 man police force.)"

In defense of western culture the real leader must be the leader of the United States who in this case is President Kennedy.

Orlich said next week's three-day meeting, opening Monday, must produce effective results, not mere words.

"We expect substantial aid for economic development with each country contributing its share. We must take the administrative and tax reforms agreed upon at the Alliance for Progress meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, and we expect aid from international agencies so we can effect most rapidly the social revolution needed to detain the spread of communism."

Newspaperman Irks Antitrust Investigators

WASHINGTON (AP)—House antitrust investigators, irked by what they regard as a challenge from the newspaper industry to their authority, have called an industry spokesman back for more questioning today.

Stanford Smith, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, raised the hackles of members of the antitrust subcommittee Thursday by seeking to impose limits on the subcommittee's investigation of the concentration of ownership in news media.

Speaking for an organization representing the nation's major publishers and backed by a 189-page legal brief, Smith told the subcommittee it would be clearly unconstitutional for Congress to enact any special legislation aimed at curbing newspaper mergers.

"The First Amendment guarantees the press an immunity from governmental interference not given to any other profit-making private enterprise," said Smith, provoking Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., to inquire:

"Would it be fair to say the ANPA is 'taking the first'?"

Smith and the ANPA legal counsel, Arthur B. Hanson, argued that although the press is subject to general antitrust laws in its business practices, the constitutional guarantees of a free press preclude any special laws aimed at diffusing newspaper ownership.

Jackie Kennedy On Dollar Bill?

XENIA, Ohio (AP)—Xenia police received a call from the management of the local theater Thursday night asking whether there was a new one dollar bill in circulation.

Well, there was. Not counterfeit, but regular U.S. currency. Only instead of George Washington's picture there was a picture of Jacqueline Kennedy.

Police said Mrs. Kennedy's portrait had been pasted over that of Washington and the paste-up had been sanded so well that only examination through light could show the work.

Desert Land Promoters Are Indicted

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Florida officers of an Arizona desert land promotion were indicted Thursday for mail fraud by a federal grand jury.

Accused on 22 counts were David Prosser Randall, president; Dory Auerbach, vice president; and Irving Gottlieb, secretary-treasurer.

They operated Lake Mead Rancheros, Inc., in arid northwestern Arizona from offices in Miami and Hollywood, Fla.

Carl A. Muecke, U.S. attorney for Arizona, said the land was about 45 miles from Lake Mead, but advertising indicated it was a direct neighbor.

He said the advertisements indicated the raw range land was developed and livable now when in fact, it was not.

Although prospective customers wrote to one of two Kingman, Ariz., offices, Muecke said the correspondence wasn't even opened in Arizona. It was forwarded to the Florida offices.

The indictment said the Arizona addresses were used to lead customers to believe they were dealing with an Arizona company operating near the property.

Each count charged the defendants with causing a different mailing of money to the Arizona addresses.

Sonic Boom Warning Given Central Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lockbourne Air Force Base spokesmen reported today that a simulated invasion of a five-state area by NORAD (North American Defense Command) bombers could produce sonic booms in the central Ohio area anytime during the next two days.

It will be the job of Lockbourne based 87th Fighter Squadron to intercept the bombers if they penetrate into this area. "The exercise, first of its kind, will involve men, missiles and planes of both the Army and Air Force."

Realtors Shun Racial Curbs

Code No Longer Cool On Sales to Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Real Estate Boards has made it clear—for the first time—that it is no violation of the realtors code of ethics to sell a Negro family a home in a previously all-white neighborhood.

Until about 15 years ago, the NAREB code of ethics specified that a realtor should not sell to a nonwhite person in an all-white neighborhood.

The change in view is evident in a revision of the code and an association book interpreting it, distributed to local real estate boards.

As revised, Article 5 of the code of ethics now reads:

"The realtor should not be instrumental in introducing into a neighborhood a character of property or use which will clearly be detrimental to property values in that neighborhood."

The NAREB book interpreting the code was distributed to local boards early this year—the first time this had been done.

One case, illustrating Article 5, involved the sale of a house in an all-white neighborhood to a nonwhite buyer.

The realtor was taken before the local board's committee on professional standards. He contended that since the words "occupancy" and "race" formerly in the code had been removed many years ago this demonstrated an intent to "exclude any such considerations from the article."

The book said the realtor was found innocent of unethical conduct and concluded that occupancy is not to be considered as a factor in interpreting the phrase "character of property or use."

The book was prepared by the NAREB committee on professional standards over a period of three years.

NAREB has no day-to-day enforcement powers over local boards. However, each local group pledges to abide by the code of ethics and flagrant violations could result in expulsion. The code was first adopted in 1913.

But Orlich, in Costa Rican tradition, moved through crowds downtown Thursday night without a bodyguard or security agent, chatting informally with well-wishers.

Visiting the conference press center, he described Castroism as "a problem of the entire continent" and said Costa Rica favors collective action against the Castro regime.

But he added: "In the case of Costa Rica, our aid in putting an end to such a regime can only be moral aid. (Costa Rica's only army is a 1,200 man police force.)"

In defense of western culture the real leader must be the leader of the United States who in this case is President Kennedy.

Orlich said next week's three-day meeting, opening Monday, must produce effective results, not mere words.

"We expect substantial aid for economic development with each country contributing its share. We must take the administrative and tax reforms agreed upon at the Alliance for Progress meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay, and we expect aid from international agencies so we can effect most rapidly the social revolution needed to detain the spread of communism."

Desert Land Promoters Are Indicted

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The Florida officers of an Arizona desert land promotion were indicted Thursday for mail fraud by a federal grand jury.

Accused on 22 counts were David Prosser Randall, president; Dory Auerbach, vice president; and Irving Gottlieb, secretary-treasurer.

They operated Lake Mead Rancheros, Inc., in arid northwestern Arizona from offices in Miami and Hollywood, Fla.

Carl A. Muecke, U.S. attorney for Arizona, said the land was about 45 miles from Lake Mead, but advertising indicated it was a direct neighbor.

He said the advertisements indicated the raw range land was developed and livable now when in fact, it was not.

Although prospective customers wrote to one of two Kingman, Ariz., offices, Muecke said the correspondence wasn't even opened in Arizona. It was forwarded to the Florida offices.

The indictment said the Arizona addresses were used to lead customers to believe they were dealing with an Arizona company operating near the property.

Each count charged the defendants with causing a different mailing of money to the Arizona addresses.

Sonic Boom Warning Given Central Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Lockbourne Air Force Base spokesmen reported today that a simulated invasion of a five-state area by NORAD (North American Defense Command) bombers could produce sonic booms in the central Ohio area anytime during the next two days.

It will be the job of Lockbourne based 87th Fighter Squadron to intercept the bombers if they penetrate into this area. "The exercise, first of its kind, will involve men, missiles and planes of both the Army and Air Force."

Code No Longer Cool On Sales to Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Real Estate Boards has made it clear—for the first time—that it is no violation of the realtors code of ethics to sell a Negro family a home in a previously all-white neighborhood.

Until about 15 years ago, the NAREB code of ethics specified that a realtor should not sell to a nonwhite person in an all-white neighborhood.

The change in view is evident in a revision of the code and an association book interpreting it, distributed to local real estate boards.

As revised, Article 5 of the code of ethics now reads:

"The realtor should not be instrumental in introducing into a neighborhood a character of property or use which will clearly be detrimental to property values in that neighborhood."

The NAREB book interpreting the code was distributed to local boards early this year—the first time this had been done.

One case, illustrating Article 5, involved the sale of a house in an all-white neighborhood to a nonwhite buyer.

The realtor was taken before the local board's committee on professional standards. He contended that since the words "occupancy" and "race" formerly in the code had been removed many years ago this demonstrated an intent to "exclude any such considerations from the article."

The book said the realtor was found innocent of unethical conduct and concluded that occupancy is not to be considered as a factor in interpreting the phrase "character of property or use."

The book was prepared by the NAREB committee on professional standards over a period of three years.

NAREB has no day-to-day enforcement powers over local boards. However, each local group pledges to abide by the code of ethics and flagrant violations could result in expulsion. The code was first adopted in 1913.

Labor Chief Prods Rail Union Talks

CHICAGO (AP)—A standoff between negotiators for the nation's railroads and chiefs of five operating unions in a work rules dispute continued today despite prodding by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Wirtz, in a statement Thursday night in Washington, requested the railroads and brotherhoods representing 200,000 on-train employees to resume negotiations immediately in the 4-year-old dispute.

Well-Dressed Bank Bandit Gets $15,000

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—The search apparently continued today for a well-dressed gunman who held up a branch bank near New Castle and thanked bank employees as he walked out with an estimated $15,000 cash.

Reports late Thursday night indicated that a man had been arrested in the case but there was no confirmation from state police or the FBI.

State police, who gave the estimate of the loot, said the gunman brandished a .38 caliber revolver while scooping up bundles of $50 and $100 bills from the cash drawers of a branch of the Citizens National Bank of New Castle in Calks Plaza Shopping Center Thursday.

Authorities said the tall, slender gunman, age 30 to 35, then said "thank you" and escaped in an old blue car parked at the end of the plaza, about two miles north of New Castle, police said.

Two tellers, Mrs. Dorothy Eckles and Charles Van Dusen, jumped in a car and tried to follow the gunman but lost trace of him.

the economic integration of Central America. We have cost estimates of economic projects ready to present to President Kennedy, but I cannot reveal them now."

Costa Rica's Communist party appears to have arranged an alibi in advance should those intent on harassing the meeting succeed in breaking through the heavy security arrangements.

Manuel Mora Valverde, a leader of the Costa Rican party, announced publicly that the Communist party would not accept the blame for any "physical measures against the presidents" during the meeting.

From Moscow, in Spanish-Language broadcasts to Central America, have come denunciations of the meeting as "a new plot against Cuba and the peoples of Central America." Moscow calls the meeting an attempt to form a Central-American military bloc to attack Cuba and hold back revolution elsewhere in Latin America. In what could be calls to Communist-Castroist action, broadcasts repeat that "the people will thwart this new criminal plan."

Daniel Oduber, Costa Rican foreign minister, has not ruled out the possibility of a try from Cuba at violence during the meeting. He announced that whatever security measures are taken will be "directed against small hostile groups sent here to obstruct the presidents' conference."

Central American authorities consider Havana-directed subversion to be a major obstacle in the way of progress in the area. Presidents of the United States, Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama will discuss ways of countering the Cuban activity. Some Central Americans are reported demanding all action short of war.

The presidents also are going to talk about economic problems and how to improve standards of living. This will include a discussion of the Central-American common market, to which the U.S. President probably will pledge significant help.

U.S. Says 'Hot Line' To Moscow Is Needed

GENEVA (AP) — The United States said today a direct, secret communications link between Washington and the Kremlin would greatly reduce the danger of accidental nuclear war.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stille told the 17-nation disarmament conference it should discuss the establishment of such a link as a matter of urgency.

The proposal was first made to the conference last year but has never come up for discussion as the delegates concentrated on a treaty to ban nuclear tests.

Damage Suit Filed Against Area Resident

A damages suit has been filed in Common Pleas Court against John Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport, as the result of an auto accident occurring nearly two years ago.

John Puffinberger is seeking a $109,734.36 judgment against Dunlap for damages and injuries received in an accident near his home on Route 22, west of Circleville, on April 15, 1961.

Puffinberger's petition states that while he was attempting a left turn off Route 22 into his driveway, he was being followed by an auto driven by Gale Seymour.

The petition alleges that Dunlap crossed a yellow line, passed the Seymour vehicle and struck Puffinberger's car as he was making the left turn.

The plaintiff listed whip lash injuries to the spine and a right leg injury which required surgery on his thigh as causes for action. He listed a total of $6,782.02 paid out in wages for help on his farm while recuperating and $2,202.34 in doctor, hospital and drug bills.

Stock Market Shows Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains of selected blue chips gave stock market averages a nudge to the upside early this afternoon, but the over-all list was mixed in quiet trading.

Stocks firmed after their spell of late weakness Thursday and cautious investment demand resulted in scattered improvement.

While changes of most key stocks were fractional, some high-quality issues advanced a point or so.

Oils, some chemicals and utilities benefited from buying, but there was no strong group leadership.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 256.6 with industrials up .5, rails unchanged, and utilities up .2.

At Miami he was a varsity quarterback under present Ohio State head football coach, W. W. (Woody) Hayes.

He served in Korea in 1953, then went to Marion High School in Virginia where he served as an assistant coach.

In 1956 he assumed his first head football position at Berne Union. In his three years there the Fairfield county team won two league championships and had an overall record of 21 wins, three ties and three losses.

HIS OVERALL record as a head football coach is 48 wins, 13 losses, and five ties.

Hanover college is a small Presbyterian school in Indiana. The athletic teams there compete in the Hoosier Conference.

The school was founded in 1827 and has a present enrollment of 812 students. There are 58 instructors on the faculty staff.

Benhase taught biology at high schools in Marion, Va., and Sugar Grove before coming to Circleville. He also has experience as a track, basketball and golf coach.

The likeable gridiron tutor plans to leave for Hanover in July.

10,000 May Lose State Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — So-called "ripper" legislation that reportedly would have deprived some 20,000 state employees of civil service protection may affect only half that number, reliable sources say.

The administration bill, as worked over, now appears likely to affect mainly about 8,500 classified employees in maintenance, trade and labor categories and around 2,000 in the Liquor Department, according to one administration spokesman.

In the original bill, termed by Gov. James A. Rhodes as a reorganization measure, it could have made an estimated 56 per cent of all state employees subject to political appointment.

An official of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association has said that any "ripper" enactment will be challenged in court. He expressed belief that the more exemptions added, the more chance the association would have in upsetting such a law.

Winnie To Escape U.S. Tax Collector

WASHINGTON (AP)—If honorary U.S. citizenship comes to Sir Winston Churchill, will the U.S. tax collector follow close behind? Not at all, say the sponsors of legislation to honor the British leader.

The bill passed by the House and considered certain to be approved by the Senate says nothing one way or the other about applying U.S. taxes to Sir Winston.

But before the matter was brought to a vote, the question was put to the Department of Justice, which reported:

"The resolutions would not have the effect of requiring Sir Winston to be considered a national of the United States, under the tax laws of the United States or of the individual states."

70 Congressmen Vote Both Ways on Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy members of the House took no chances this week of being accused of wanting more or less defense.

They voted both ways on the same bill on two separate roll calls Wednesday.

Involved was a $15.8 billion authorization for procurement of aircraft, missiles and naval ships.

The first vote was on an amendment increasing the authorization by $363,700,000 for further development of the RS70 reconnaissance strike plane. Most Republicans did not want a roll call vote, which was forced on them by Democrats.

The vote was 133 Democrats and 93 Republicans for the increase, and 102 Democrats and 77 Republicans against it.

A few minutes later, Republicans offered an amendment for an across-the-board cut of more than $500 million. Democrats didn't favor a roll call vote on that proposal but were forced into it by Republicans.

The amendment lost by a vote of 258 to 149, with 10 Democrats and 139 Republicans supporting it, and 227 Democrats and 31 Republicans opposing it.

Of the 93 Republicans who voted for the first amendment to add funds, 67 voted for the second change to reduce the total. Three of the Democrats who supported the first increase voted for the cut in the second amendment.

The net effect of the shuffling was that the 10 members who switched positions can cite the official Congressional Record to back up claims that they voted for more defense and also voted to hold down spending.

They will get a chance to shift again later, if they desire, when another bill providing the money to finance the authorization measure hits the House floor.

the economic integration of Central America. We have cost estimates of economic projects ready to present to President Kennedy, but I cannot reveal them now.

Costa Rica's Communist party appears to have arranged an alibi in advance should those intent on harassing the meeting succeed in breaking through the heavy security arrangements.

Manuel Mora Valverde, a leader of the Costa Rican party, announced publicly that the Communist party would not accept the blame for any "physical measures against the presidents" during the meeting.

From Moscow, in Spanish-Language broadcasts to Central America, have come denunciations of the meeting as "a new plot against Cuba and the peoples of Central America." Moscow calls the meeting an attempt to form a Central-American military bloc to attack Cuba and hold back revolution elsewhere in Latin America. In what could be called to Communist-Castro action, broadcasts repeat that "the people will thwart this new criminal plan."

Daniel Oduber, Costa Rican foreign minister, has not ruled out the possibility of a try from Cuba at violence during the meeting. He announced that whatever security measures are taken will be "directed against small hostile groups sent here to obstruct the presidents' conference."

Central American authorities consider Havana-directed subversion to be a major obstacle in the way of progress in the area. Presidents of the United States, Honduras, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua and Panama will discuss ways of countering the Cuban activity. Some Central Americans are reported demanding all action short of war.

The presidents also are going to talk about economic problems and how to improve standards of living. This will include a discussion of the Central-American common market, to which the U.S. President probably will pledge significant help.

U.S. Says 'Hot Line' To Moscow Is Needed
GENEVA (AP) — The United States said today a direct, secret communications link between Washington and the Kremlin would greatly reduce the danger of accidental nuclear war.

U.S. Ambassador Charles C. Stelle told the 17-nation disarmament conference it should discuss the establishment of such a link as a matter of urgency.
The proposal was first made to the conference last year but has never come up for discussion as the delegates concentrated on a treaty to ban nuclear tests.

Damage Suit Filed Against Area Resident

A damages suit has been filed in Common Pleas Court against John Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport, as the result of an auto accident occurring nearly two years ago.

John Puffinbarger is seeking a $109,734.36 judgment against Dunlap for damages and injuries received in an accident near his home on Route 22, west of Circleville, on April 15, 1961.

Puffinbarger's petition states that while he was attempting a left turn off Route 22 into his driveway, he was being followed by an auto driven by Gale Seymour.

The petition alleges that Dunlap crossed a yellow line, passed the Seymour vehicle and struck Puffinbarger's car as he was making the left turn.

The plaintiff listed whip lash injuries to the spine and a right leg injury which required surgery on his thigh as causes for action. He listed a total of $6,782.02 paid out in wages for help on his farm while recuperating and $2,202.34 in doctor, hospital and drug bills.

Stock Market Shows Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains of selected blue chips gave stock market averages a nudge to the upside early this afternoon, but the over-all list was mixed in quiet trading.

Stocks firmed after their spell of late weakness Thursday and cautious investment demand resulted in scattered improvement. While changes of most key stocks were fractional, some high-quality issues advanced a point or so.

Oils, some chemicals and utilities benefited from buying, but there was no strong group leadership.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 256.6 with industrials up .5, rails unchanged, and utilities up .2.

coaches at Circleville were Dick Fisher, backfield coach; John Adler, guards and centers; and Jim Lint, ends and tackles.

Benhase has written numerous articles for professional, physical education journals including Scholastic Coach, Athlete, and the Athletic Journal. He holds a bachelor's degree from Miami (Ohio) University and a master's degree from the University of Virginia.

At Miami he was a varsity quarterback under present Ohio State head football coach, W. W. (Woody) Hayes.

He served in Korea in 1953, then went to Marion High School in Virginia where he served as an assistant coach.

In 1956 he assumed his first head football position at Berne Union. In his three years there the Fairfield county team won two league championships and had an overall record of 21 wins, three ties and three losses.

HIS OVERALL record as a head football coach is 48 wins, 13 losses, and five ties.

Hanover college is a small Presbyterian school in Indiana. The athletic teams there compete in the Hoosier Conference.

The school was founded in 1827 and has a present enrollment of 812 students. There are 58 instructors on the faculty staff.

Benhase taught biology at high schools in Marion, Va., and Sugar Grove before coming to Circleville. He also has experience as a track, basketball and golf coach.

The new Hanover mentor is a Kiwanian, a Mason and a deacon and Sunday School teacher in the Circleville Presbyterian Church. He and his wife and two children live in the City View addition.

The likeable gridiron tutor plans to leave for Hanover in July.

10,000 May Lose State Jobs

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — So-called "ripper" legislation that reportedly would have deprived some 20,000 state employees of civil service protection may affect only half that number, reliable sources say.

The administration bill, as worked over, now appears likely to affect mainly about 8,500 classified employees in maintenance, trade and labor categories and around 2,000 in the Liquor Department, according to one administration spokesman.

In the original bill, termed by Gov. James A. Rhodes as a reorganization measure, it could have made an estimated 56 per cent of all state employees subject to political appointment.

An official of the Ohio Civil Service Employees Association has said that any "ripper" enactment will be challenged in court. He expressed belief that the more exemptions added, the more chance the association would have in upsetting such a law.

Winnie To Escape U.S. Tax Collector

WASHINGTON (AP)—If honorary U.S. citizenship comes to Sir Winston Churchill, will the U.S. tax collector follow close behind? Not at all, say the sponsors of legislation to honor the British leader.

The bill passed by the House and considered certain to be approved by the Senate says nothing one way or the other about applying U.S. taxes to Sir Winston.

But before the matter was brought to a vote, the question was put to the Department of Justice, which reported:

"The resolutions would not have the effect of requiring Sir Winston to be considered a national of the United States, under the tax laws of the United States or of the individual states."

70 Congressmen Vote Both Ways on Defense Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Seventy members of the House took no chances this week of being accused of waning more or less defense.

They voted both ways on the same bill on two separate roll calls Wednesday.

Involved was a $15.8 billion authorization for procurement of aircraft, missiles and naval ships.

The first vote was on an amendment increasing the authorization by $363,700,000 for further development of the RS70 reconnaissance strike plane. Most Republicans did not want a roll call vote, which was forced on them by Democrats.

The vote was 133 Democrats and 93 Republicans for the increase, and 102 Democrats and 77 Republicans against it.

A few minutes later, Republicans offered an amendment for an across-the-board cut of more than $800 million. Democrats didn't favor a roll call vote on that proposal but were forced into it by Republicans.

The amendment lost by a vote of 258 to 149, with 10 Democrats and 139 Republicans supporting it, and 227 Democrats and 31 Republicans opposing it.

Of the 93 Republicans who voted for the first amendment to add funds, 67 voted for the second change to reduce the total. Three of the Democrats who supported the first increase voted for the cut in the second amendment.

The net effect of the shuffling was that the 70 members who switched positions can cite the official Congressional Record to back up claims that they voted for more defense and also voted to hold down spending.

They will get a chance to shift again later, if they desire, when another bill providing the money to finance the authorization measure hits the House floor.

NAM Wants Bigger Tax Cut than JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers has urged congress to cut taxes more than President Kennedy recommended and postpone revisions of the revenue code.

W. P. Gullander, president of the business group, told the House Ways and Means Committee it backs the tax bills introduced by two committee members, Reps. A. S. Herlong Jr., D-Fla., and Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn. These would provide for tax reductions spread over five years—rather than two years as contemplated by the administration—and keyed in latter phases to spending control.

The Herlong-Baker plan would provide relatively more tax relief in middle and upper brackets than the administration proposal—as Gullander put it, it would "flatten the curve of graduation of the personal tax."

He said it "would reduce personal taxes some $4 billion more, and corporate taxes by some $2.5 billion more, than recommended by the administration, without consideration of structural reforms."

Gullander said the economy would have to grow about 5½ per cent for the rest of the 1960's, instead of the recent 2½ per cent, if young people entering the labor force are to be employed and unemployment reduced to 4 per cent.

"These goals cannot be accomplished by halfway measures," he said. "This is why our association feels that the administration's tax program is inadequate."

Peron Seeks Return to Good Graces

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Responsible Vatican sources said today the excommunication of former Argentine President Juan D. Peron has been lifted at his request. They said the sanction was lifted after Bishop Leopoldo Eljo Garat of Madrid-Alcala advised the Vatican that Peron himself was seeking a return to the Church. The former Argentine leader now lives in Spain.

Bishop Eljo's message to the Vatican was acted on favorably by the Consistorial Congregation, the Church's agency responsible for excommunications, the informants said.

The congregation issued the original decree of excommunication in 1955 after two Argentine priests were arrested on charges of instigating violence against Peron's government, then still in power.

The 1955 order was a blanket excommunication not specifically naming Peron, but generally understood to include him. A person excommunicated is barred from the sacraments of the Church.

Peron has been quoted in recent days as saying Argentine industrialists are pressing him to come home because present regime is pushing the country toward economic chaos.

Ex-DiSalle Aide Voted Dismissal by State Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Cosmetology Board members have voted to fire Mrs. Betty Stiver-son, $600-a-month executive secretary who used to be a secretary in the office of former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle.

She had been critical of Gov. James A. Rhodes' recent appointment of Mrs. Etheline Alexander of Columbus to the board. At the same meeting Thursday, Dr. Donald Bowers of Columbus was elected chairman and Joseph Florio of Columbus was renamed to the board, subject to Senate confirmation.

CIRCLEVILLE OIL CO.

Defense Secretary Robert F. McNamara's announcement that Soviet reconnaissance planes have been checking up on U. S. aircraft carriers is interesting principally for the touchiness it revealed on the subject of "managed" news.

It should be assumed that Russia, like all the other major powers, maintains the best military intelligence system of which it is capable. The United States does, as has been demonstrated by the photographs obtained over Cuba, by the unhappy U-2 incident over Soviet territory, and by other documentation over the years.

There is nothing to indicate that the Russian flights were anything other than routine, and as the ships were in international waters no territorial sovereignty was violated.

The fact is that hundreds of such incidents involving both friends and enemies of the United States probably have happened before without meriting mention by the defense secretary or anybody else. McNamara brought it up at the news conference, he said, to avoid later charges that he had tried to conceal it.

The press and other communications media will welcome this new administration sensitivity to the principle of freedom of information, and hope it extends to all branches of the government and includes matters both large and small.

An unfortunate aspect of the whole affair is that in choosing to make such a point of this announcement, Secretary McNamara may have emphasized is disproportionately and caused some concern over a news tidbit that did not immediately warrant it.

He Who Is Snubbed

"How low can you go?" an impressario of the limbo dance might ask. Then along may come an irreverent rhymster with this rejoinder: "How tall is DeGaulle?"

The answer to the second question is that the "trousered Joan of Arc," as a reporter once described him, rises to a height of six feet four inches. This might give observers cause for concern, because Italy is supposed to have administered a snub to De Gaulle's France for thumbing down Great Britain's bid to join the ECM.

Premier Amintore Fanfani is only an inch over five feet tall. How a man of such modest height can be an effective snubber of one 15 inches taller is a problem in international diplomacy. The "snubee" is not likely to notice it, especially if his eyesight is as poor as General De Gaulle's.

It's a good thing for international peace and amity that there are plenty of average size diplomats available when there's a job of snubbing to be done.

Successful, but Still Scared

NEW YORK (AP)—"Success has had a very bad effect on me," said Harper Lee, smiling. "I've gotten fat—but extremely uncomplacent."

"I'm running just as scared as before."

Harper Lee, 36, is the author whose first novel, a story of life in a small Southern town, lit up the literary world in 1960 like a lightning flash.

The novel is "To Kill a Mocking Bird."

It has since sold six million copies, won a Pulitzer Prize, and been made into a film recently nominated for an Academy award.

Miss Lee, a sweet-faced, dark-eyed woman with a firm sense of self-discipline, is now at work on her second book at her home in Monroeville, Ala., where she lives with her sister, Alice, a lawyer.

"I am more of a rewriter than a writer," she remarked. "I write at least three drafts. I've been writing since I was a kid of 7. But I have systematically thrown away most of what I have written. It was a form of self-training."

She has found her hobby, golf, valuable as a source of inspiration.

"Playing golf is the best way I know to be alone and still be doing something," she remarked. "You hit a ball, think, and take a walk."

"I do my thinking walking. I do my dialog, talking it out to myself."

To Miss Lee life is a fountain, springing from the past, and she feels personally a great debt to the heritage of past authors.

"I don't keep up with contemporary stuff," she said. "I'm a late 18th and 19th century type. I think that in the South we are still in the Victorian age in some ways—and in some ways I don't want to get out of it."

Miss Lee, who wrote most of her first novel at night after working as an airlines clerk during the day, is a good-humored but firm believer in the old-fashioned virtue of self-responsibility. She has no sympathy for the beatnik tendency to blame one's personal plight on society.

"Self-pity is a sin," she said. "It is a form of living suicide. 'Most of us in the Western world make our own lives. Life doesn't make us. We create our events.'"

You understand Harper Lee better when she tells you who are her favorite heroes.

"They are," she said, "the two greatest gentlemen America has produced—Robert E. Lee and Tom Jefferson."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Silver users say that if U.S. dollar bills continue to be backed by silver, the price of the metal for consumer and industrial use may rise still higher—and so may the cost of wedding gifts and electronic gadgets.

They have joined the U.S. Treasury in urging that the present silver-backed $1 and $2 bills be withdrawn in favor of currency issued by the Federal Reserve banks which is not backed by silver.

Users' pleas that Treasury reserves be released for coinage purposes so the government won't enter the already crowded metal market came as the price of silver rose to $1.28 an ounce in New York Wednesday and held at $1.284 in London, up 2.7 cents in a week. It has steadily crept nearer the $1.2929 value which the treasury puts on its reserve stocks.

At the same time the U.S. Bureau of Mines was reporting that total silver production in this country in January fell 8 per cent behind the year ago figure, despite gains in Arizona and Idaho.

The drop in U.S. and world production in recent months and the reluctance of Mexico to put much of its silver on the New York market have helped pinch supplies. The pinch started in November 1961 when the U.S. Treasury stopped selling silver to industrial users at the then-official price of 0.9162 cents an ounce. From then until the present, the price of silver has climbed 40 per cent in London.

Usage has been up along with prices. Consumer demand for household silver articles and for jewelry has held high. But the big gain has been in electronics and other industrial fields, including those linked with the space age, where the metal has found new and expanding markets.

The Treasury is asking Congress to free it of issuing $1 and $2 bills backed by silver reserves because it needs its silver stock for coinage. The demand for silver coins rises in the vending machine and turnstile age.

If it must keep the silver reserve, the Treasury says it soon will have to compete in the market for metal to make more coins. This added demand would tend to send the price up. And when the market price of silver equals or exceeds the value of the metal backing $1 bills, these could be turned in for silver and the Treasury's reserves would fade.

Silver fabricators naturally don't like to see the price rise, nor do they relish competing with the Treasury for the available supply.

Production has fallen off because much of it is a byproduct of the mining of lead and zinc. This has been in low gear for months.

Lorain County has been granted $27,000 on a project estimated to cost $90,000, and Greene County has been granted $247,350 on a project estimated to cost $6,437,350.

Try and Stop Me

VICTOR MATURE, dressed as a Roman soldier of Caesar's legions for a historical picture, took advantage of a break in the day's shooting schedule to repair to a nearby bistro for a drink. He took with him two lesser actors in similar garb.

The bartender wasn't used to serving movie actors in costume, and his eyes popped when Mature and his friends walked in. Mature, noting his astonishment, asked casually, "What's the matter, pop? Don't you cater to service men here?"

A very pretty lady on a world cruise decided she had to bring home a pair of wooden clogs from Hong Kong—the kind tiny-footed Orientals used to wear. The manager of a bootery there took one look at the lady's very large feet and told her frankly, "We could make a pair specially for you, but we'd have to send to the mainland for the lumber."

Guide to Better Health

By HARRY J. JOHNSON, M. D.

From the moment you are born your body begins to deteriorate. However, you can look forward to the most significant changes after age 45. Consequently, by the time you reach age 65, you may very well be among those who enter this period with some chronic ailment.

A recent clinical survey in Baltimore showed only one in every 22 persons at ages 65 or older was free of chronic disease. I quote the report:

"In only one case out of every seven was there no chronic disease present which interfered with or limited daily activities or which required care. Nearly three-fifths of the older people examined were found to have some form of heart disease; more than half had arthritis.

"Among the other leading chronic conditions were obesity, hernia, hypertension without heart involvement, arteriosclerosis, varicose veins, hemorrhoids, and diseases of the genital organs. The prevalence rate for each of these conditions was several times as high at ages 65 and over as at ages 35 to 64."

My purpose in citing such a report is to impress upon you that you will have to face a certain reality of life.

To be prepared for the future, the reality you must learn now is that you have every good reason to expect a good decade or more of life past the age of retirement. But it may be a period in which you will be afflicted with a chronic ailment.

Chronic illness does not mean the end of life, however. To be sure, your physical activities may be limited. But if you are prepared to take on new interests, you can still maintain a sense of well-being.

George Sanders, the movie actor when asked once what he would do if he wanted to live longer, quipped, "The trick is to have some minor ailment which makes you permanently conscious of your health. A touch of arthritis or something, and you're a safe bet to live to ninety."

There is more truth in this bit of sardonic humor than may seem apparent. We tend not to value our health until something happens to make us conscious of it, then we try to change our ways.

A great many persons seem to think that all they need to do to live longer is to follow a new set of rules once they have reached a certain turning point, such as age 50, 55, or 60. There is no such turning point.

You must, whether you're 25, 45 or 65, always live according to all the rules that will help you acquire a sense of well-being during your entire life—the rules of a balanced diet and normal weight; the rules on avoiding excesses in smoking and drinking; the rules about getting adequate sleep; the rules of rest and relaxation and of change of pace in combating daily pressures and tensions; the rules for keeping physically fit through a sensible program of regular exercise, the rules for periodic health examinations, and the rules for getting along with your doctor.

Businessmen Assume the Risks

By John Chamberlain

Businessmen, so I am convinced, are the salt of the earth. They assume all the risks that go with creating the goods and providing the jobs that keep people alive. They accept crushing taxes, and they dutifully fill out reams of onerous forms. Whenever a businessman is called a "robber baron," I automatically bridle at the insult. There are times, however, when specific businessmen desert their own free enterprise philosophy, and when they do this, it is hard to speak up convincingly in defense of the system which has made the whole nation prosper.

If there is one thing a businessman should bend over backward to do, it is to give his competitor a free field with the expectation that no favors will be asked either way. The philosophy of competition demands it; the business system as a whole needs it if it is to put up any convincing argument against Socialism. Yet every day, it seems, the newspapers are spotted with accounts of the attempts of a few businessmen to get a law or a regulation adopted which would make it more difficult for their rivals to bid for the customers' trade.

There are the truckers, for example—not all the truckers, but some of them. Through their trade association truckers have been calling upon the Federal government to prevent railroad mergers. The railroads rightly retort that government regulation has already stacked the cards against them in their efforts to compete for the carrying trade of the country. They argue quite correctly that mergers should be permitted in order to help them stay alive. But just when I have worked up some indignation against the truckers and a corresponding measure of sympathy for the railroads, my eye lights on a speech or a resolution put forth by some railway spokesman calling for the suppression of coal slurry pipelines.

The coal men, of course, insist upon the right to pulverize coal and ship it through pipes in a liquefied form. Well, they certainly should have the right: pipelines are part of a free enterprise economy, and the railroads have no call to try to use legal force to sabotage them. But just when I am about to mount the intellectual barricades in behalf of the coal slurry men, my roving eye encounters a news story about coal men who are demanding that the government tighten up the regulations against the importation of foreign residual fuel oil.

So it goes, ring-around-the-rosy. Everybody seems to be demanding free trade for himself and the suppression of everybody else. Theatre owners march on Washington to testify against the licensing of pay-as-you-see TV systems. The free lance dealers in commercial credit call upon the Department of Justice to force General Motors to divest itself of its big car credit affiliate, the General Motors Acceptance Corporation. Labor unions interpose no objections when the anti-trust enforcers go after the manufacturers of brass goods or electrical equipment. But their spokesmen descend as a body on Washington to lobby against any proposition that might put industry-wide unions under the same anti-trust regulations that apply to everyone else.

Not so many years ago Hans Isbrandtsen, the Danish-American ship line operator, had the bright idea of putting the United States, his adopted country, back into the whaling business. He bought an old U. S. Navy vessel and had it converted into a floating whale oil rendering factory. Unfortunately, he let a foreign oil tanker replenish his ship's fuel supply off the coast of Antarctica. The foreign oil tanker, to enable Isbrandtsen's crew to stay longer on the whaling grounds, loaded up in turn with some of Mr. Isbrandtsen's American-processed whale oil and tried to bring it into an American port.

Whereupon spokesmen for the domestic lard and fish oil industries seized upon the technicality to claim that the Isbrandtsen whale oil, though it had originated in an American-owned operation, was "foreign" because it had been transported by a foreigner. They insisted that the oil must be taxed at the full rate for "alien blubber." With such an attitude to contend with, Isbrandtsen got out of the whaling business—and America was left without a whale ship on the Seven Seas.

Thus it goes when one industry invokes the power of the government to suppress another. But with everybody invoking the "law" to clobber his competitors, just who is safe? The truckers try to ambush the railroads, the railroads attack the coal slurry men, the coal slurry men proceed to smack the residual oil men, the oil men, in turn, clobber each other, depending on whether their wells are in America or overseas. And trade as a whole shrinks, and everybody gets clobbered in the end.

News Sensitivity Welcomed

Defense Secretary Robert F. McNamara's announcement that Soviet reconnaissance planes have been checking up on U. S. aircraft carriers is interesting principally for the touchiness it revealed on the subject of "managed" news.

Yet every day, it seems, the newspapers are spotted with accounts of the attempts of a few businessmen to get a law or a regulation adopted which would make it more difficult for their rivals to bid for the customers' trade.

There are the truckers, for example—not all the truckers, but some of them. Through their trade association truckers have been calling upon the Federal government to prevent railroad mergers. The railroads rightly retort that government regulation has already stacked the cards against them in their efforts to compete for the carrying trade of the country. They argue quite correctly that mergers should be permitted in order to help them stay alive. But just when I have worked up some indignation against the truckers and a corresponding measure of sympathy for the railroads, my eye lights on a speech or a resolution put forth by some railway spokesman calling for the suppression of coal slurry pipelines.

The coal men, of course, insist upon the right to pulverize coal and ship it through pipes in a liquefied form. Well, they certainly should have the right: pipelines are part of a free enterprise economy, and the railroads have no call to try to use legal force to sabotage them. But just when I am about to mount the intellectual barricades in behalf of the coal slurry men, my roving eye encounters a news story about coal men who are demanding that the government tighten up the regulations against the importation of foreign residual fuel oil.

So it goes, ring-around-the-rosy. Everybody seems to be demanding free trade for himself and the suppression of everybody else. Theatre owners march on Washington to testify against the licensing of pay-as-you-see TV systems. The free lance dealers in commercial credit call upon the Department of Justice to force General Motors to divest itself of its big car credit affiliate, the General Motors Acceptance Corporation. Labor unions interpose no objections when the anti-trust enforcers go after the manufacturers of brass goods or electrical equipment. But their spokesmen descend as a body on Washington to lobby against any proposition that might put industry-wide unions under the same anti-trust regulations that apply to everyone else.

Not so many years ago Hans Isbrandtsen, the Danish-American ship line operator, had the bright idea of putting the United States, his adopted country, back into the whaling business. He bought an old U. S. Navy vessel and had it converted into a floating whale oil rendering factory. Unfortunately, he let a foreign oil tanker replenish his ship's fuel supply off the coast of Antarctica. The foreign oil tanker, to enable Isbrandtsen's crew to stay longer on the whaling grounds, loaded up in turn with some of Mr. Isbrandtsen's American-processed whale oil and tried to bring it into an American port.

Whereupon spokesmen for the domestic lard and fish oil industries seized upon the technicality to claim that the Isbrandtsen whale oil, though it had originated in an American-owned operation, was "foreign" because it had been transported by a foreigner. They insisted that the oil must be taxed at the full rate for "alien blubber." With such an attitude to contend with, Isbrandtsen got out of the whaling business—and America was left without a whale ship on the Seven Seas.

Thus it goes when one industry invokes the power of the government to suppress another. But with everybody invoking the "law" to clobber his competitors, just who is safe? The truckers try to ambush the railroads, the railroads attack the coal slurry men, the coal slurry men proceed to smack the residual oil men, the oil men, in turn, clobber each other, depending on whether their wells are in America or overseas. And trade as a whole shrinks, and everybody gets clobbered in the end.

Try Antique Collecting For Pleasure

By ELEANOR ROSS

There is pleasure and sometimes profit in building one's own collection of inexpensive antiques — if the hobby is kept within bounds. It is when it gets out of hand that the family starts raising objections.

But, contained within reasonable limits, building a collection of anything interesting, from old otheary jars to Early American woodenware, is not only fun but educational.

The serious collector bones up on her specialty and so isn't likely to have spurious pieces foisted on her. And, if she knows her stuff, her keen eye may ferret out a real treasure, a piece of true value.

Then, too, arranging and displaying a collection is part of the overall satisfaction.

Learning how to restore old things and to keep them looking beautiful is another dividend that comes to the true collector, amateur or professional.

One of the prettiest and nicest collections we have seen is made of children's mugs of the 19th century. Each item is so endearing that one finds oneself weaving dreams and fantasies about the little ones who drank from the mugs long ago.

Some of the mugs have decorations; others have inscriptions or are personalized.

Transfer decorations and portraits adorn some other mugs.

Our friend who boned up on such matters was able to recognize, at a country auction, four mugs with transfer portraits in black on cream and yellow grounds. She knew that these were made early in the 19th century by a small group of potters, and one of her finds was later confirmed to be the work of the famed American potter, Adams.

Her collection is beautifully arranged in an enclosed glass cabinet, lined in velvet and properly illuminated. It is the focal point of her living room and is much admired.

Another friend, inspired by the mug collection, has gone in for a companion collection — one of children's gift plates made between 1820 and 1860.

She is learning to spot the originals from the later reproductions and can distinguish between the marked and unmarked pieces.

All of this develops a keen eye and perception — valuable attributes in everyday living as well as in collecting.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

Choose Carefully

DEAR ABBY: Who in the world can a person trust anymore? Our preacher sat right in our living room and told all the details of some domestic trouble another couple was having. He knew full well these people were friends of ours. Then I found out that my doctor discussed my case with my aunt without any inquiry on her part—she says. Yesterday a friend of mine told her daughter something I had told her in confidence just to get it off my chest. Heaven help me if I ever need a lawyer. I hear they are the biggest gossips of all. I repeat—who can a person trust?

DISGUSTED
DEAR DISGUSTED: MOST clergymen can keep a secret. And so can most doctors. But professional people under obligation to keep confidences, occasionally talk too much. If your confidences are always revealed, perhaps you are prone to pick the wrong confidants.

DEAR ABBY: Can you please tell me why women are so touchy about telling their right age?

BEATS ME
DEAR BEATS ME: Beats ME, too. When a girl is young (around 14 or 15) the nicest compliment you can pay her is to say she appears to be about 19. When she reaches about 50, if you tell her she looks 35 you are apt to get smothered with kisses.

DEAR ABBY: A boy called me 12:30 at night and woke up my father. My father got real angry and told him if he didn't have any better sense than to call at that hour he should never call me again. The boy said he'd "think" about it. You can imagine how much angrier my father got after that. The next day my father told me about what happened and he said I was not to answer any more telephone calls from boys until next year when I'll be in the Ninth Grade. This is the first time anything like this has ever happened to me. Do you think my father is being fair?

PUNISHED
DEAR PUNISHED: Your father was understandably irritated by the boy's attitude. But I think it's unfair to punish you because of another's insolence.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "Fictitious Names": You'd better think up another name. You aren't getting away with anything.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought
The following is from Baha'i writings: "In discussing the principle that both East and West can learn from each other's virtues, the Baha'i Faith teaches that the East and West must unite to give each other what is lacking. This union will bring about a true civilization, where the spiritual is expressed and carried out in the material."

Onetime Grid Star Is Worth Million to Loyola Academy

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP)—He is worth a million bucks to Loyola Academy but he neither wants nor expects to collect.

He is James H. Bur, star full-back from a Cincinnati high school in 1951 who had offers from Army, Navy, Stanford, Kentucky, Purdue and Xavier.

But he spurned the gridiron and a shot at athletic stardom for poverty, celibacy and unquestioning obedience. He took Jesuit vows as a lay brother.

Brother Bur and a part-time helper built and recently were completing the interiors of more than a dozen classrooms, a theater and numerous other features at Loyola Academy in Chicago's north suburban Wilmette. Loyola is the nation's largest high school operated by the Society of Jesus, whose members are known popularly as the Jesuits.

In four years Brother Bur has built:

A carpenter shop, athletic locker rooms, eight chapels, 14 living rooms for private and lay brothers, a pair of school treasurer's offices, lavatory facilities, several cement stairways, a library, seven classrooms, a bookstore, seven physics rooms, a teachers' lounge and an entire second and third floor addition to one wing.

As a lay brother he contributes his time and talent. He's had occasional brushes with union bosses.

"But when they found I was a lay brother and couldn't disrupt their systems, they agreed to let me work on," Brother Bur said.

About how much is Loyola's saving in four years?

"Well, I've never totaled it up," Brother Bur replied. "But, let's see. I guess if contractors were hired to do that work it would run—oh—I guess about $1 million."

Each of Brother Bur's projects reflects the latest construction materials and the sure hand of a skilled tradesman.

"I worked on construction gangs when I was at Purcell High School in Cincinnati," Brother Bur said. "And I had construction training after I took my vows and entered the Milford Novitiate northeast of Cincinnati."

He entered the novitiate in 1952. He was assigned to the Wilmette school in 1958.

FATHER AND SEVEN DIE—Firemen search ashen remains near Butler, Pa., where Paul Rosenberg, 41, and his six children and a nephew died in flames. The Rosenbergs awoke after the fire got underway, and the husband told his wife, Elizabeth, 39, to go to a neighbor's to telephone for help while he attempted to rescue the children. The home burned to the ground with its victims still there.

Soviet Influence Said on Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson says there is no basis for fears "The United Nations is somehow the instrument of Communist manipulation."

As a matter of fact, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations said, whatever influence the Soviet Union had with the Afro-Asian bloc "diminished perceptibly last year" when Red China invaded India and Soviet Premier Khrushchev bowed to U.S. demands for the removal of Soviet missiles from Cuba.

Even in Cuba, Stevenson told a Senate Foreign Relations subcommittee Soviet political influence appears to be diminishing, despite its "life and death hold" over Fidel Castro's military defenses and economy.

Leased Wire Rate Boost Order Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission has indefinitely postponed its order authorizing rate increases for the private use of leased communications lines.

The increases had been authorized Jan. 29 after a seven-year study. And the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and Western Union were ordered to arrange to put the higher rates into effect May 1.

However, the FCC said the order would be stayed while it considers petitions for reconsideration. Press interests, who opposed the AT&T and Western Union applications for higher rates, had sought the reconsideration.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association contends some users would pay up to 150 per cent more for private line service under the new rate schedule. The newspaper group noted that AT&T had estimated the increases would average about 19 per cent to press users and 2.1 per cent for commercial users, while charges to government users would be 7.8 per cent lower.

MAY LEAVE LEGATION—Reports are circulating in Vatican City that Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, soon may leave the U. S. Legation in Budapest, where he got asylum when Russian tanks crushed an abortive Hungarian revolt in 1956.

Patients Don't Phone

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—A business office representative at the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company was trying to help a customer — listed as a doctor — determine who made a long-distance call for which he was charged.

"Do you get many long-distance calls from patients?" the customer asked.

"Very few," came the reply, "I'm a veterinarian."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jesus Demonstrates His Authority

THERE COMES AN HOUR IN MAN'S LIFE WHEN HE

Scripture—Mark 11:1-12:12.

By N. SPEER JONES
THE EVENTS of this week's lesson span the time from the Friday before Christ's crucifixion to the Tuesday morning before. As we have seen, Christ and His followers are on their way to Jerusalem for the Passover.

They leave Jericho on Friday morning and arrive that evening at Bethany, where they stay at the home of Lazarus, Mary and Martha. There, too, they spend the Sabbath, which,
of course, for the Jews was (and is) on Saturday.

Saturday night, Matthew tells us (26:6), Christ went to the home of Simon the Leper for supper, where he was anointed by Mary. John tells us (12:9-11) that many of the Jews of Jerusalem went out to see Him at Lazarus' home, thus rousing more jealousy in the chief priests, who called a meeting of the Council to discuss putting Him to death.

Bethany (meaning "the house of dates") and its neighboring village of Bethphage ("the house of unripe figs") are about a mile and two miles outside of Jerusalem. On Sunday morning (April 2, A.D. 30) Jesus sends two of His disciples to Beth-phage to procure the ass on which He rides into Jerusalem.

Why does the Lord ride upon an ass? He is not tired, for it is morning and he is known to be a vigorous walker. He meant, instead, to give special symbolic significance to His entry into the Jewish capital. Throughout the Old Testament the horse is a symbol of war, luxury and rapine. The ass, on the other hand, is symbolic of peace, humility and quiet—the very virtues which Christ wants established in the capital of His king-

On Monday Christ made His pronouncement against the fig tree, an enigmatic passage in the Bible, about which much has been written. The incident appears to be a symbolic picture.

Ohio Driver Point System Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state
Bureau of Motor Vehicles official thinks Ohio's point system for suspension of driver licenses of habitual traffic law violators is "ineffective and expensive."

Homer Hall, administrative assistant to the state registrar, gave that opinion Wednesday at a session of the Ohio House Interstate Cooperation Committee. He testified in support of a bill to tighten the Ohio point system.

The bill would require automatic revocation by the registrar
after a driver piles up 12 points
in violations.

Hall said 32 states and the District of Columbia have point system laws and that Ohio is the only one requiring a court hearing before licenses are suspended after accumulation of 12 points.

He said that in 4,435 cases where drivers had 12 points last year, licenses were suspended in only 2,683 of them; 1,354 drivers were limited to restricted driving; 278 were placed on probation and 111 cases were dismissed.

tenger.

Rev. Nelson announced services

ted with Mt. Pleasant and Emmetts Chapel participating. Good ices 9:30 a. m. Easter Sunday in rament of baptism and an invitation to unite with the church. Em-

Moeller Gets Space Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former
Pep. Walter H. Moeller, D-Ohio, has taken a $16,000-a-year post as assistant to the director of the National Space Agency's educational program division.

Moeller, defeated at the polls
last November by Rep. Homer Abele, a Republican, said that his main job will be to deal with state boards of education in connection with educational publications, audio visual presentations, and space mobiles that take space agency exhibits around the country.

Moeller said he had to wait several months after his election defeat to undergo job security clearance.

"My congressional security wasn't good enough," he said.

HORSE COLLARS NOT ENOUGH, APPARENTLY—Pickets representing the "Society for Indecency to Naked Animals" tramp the pavement outside the White House fence demanding presidential support for their campaign to put clothing on animals. This pair is Bill Moran, 65, and Jeanne Spencer, both from New York.

Film Industry Ponders Pay Slash for Debbie Reynolds

HOLLYWOOD (AP)— Every-
one in the film industry has been talking about the high cost of top stars, but no one has done anything about it—until now.

Here is Debbie Reynolds taking more than a 50 per cent cut in salary, much to the amazement
of the studios—and her agent.

"You can't keep the money anyway; most of it goes to the government," she reasons. "So why not keep it in the business?"

Her move is not completely altruistic. By taking a cut, she has landed one of the prize comedy roles of the year in the film version of the hit play, "Mary, Mary." The same strategy appears likely to win her another plum, "The Unsinkable Molly
Brown."

"The studio bosses can't believe it," she said on the "Mary, Mary"
set. "We have a conference about the picture and they ask how much money I want."

"I say, 'how much do you want to pay me?'"

"Finally they say, 'Well, you got $200,000 for your last four pictures, plus 10 per cent of the gross
—that's equivalent to about $350-000.'"

"I say, 'Yes, but how much do you want to pay me? A hundred thousand?'"

"That's when my agent goes crazy. 'Don't listen to her,' he says. 'I say, 'Yes, but how much do you want to pay me?'" to do the part. A hundred thousand—okay?" They say, "Okay,"

and we've got a deal."

Her testimony will surely cause
the doubting Thomases to suspect that: 1. Her career is slipping;
2. Her marriage to Harry Karl,
the shoe tycoon, inspires less concern for money.

In reply:

1. The Reynolds career shows no sign of slippage. She remains one of the top five female draws,
and her work in "How the West
Was Won" impressed producers with her versatility, as did her recent stint in Las Vegas.

2. There may be some credence in the fact of her financial independence. But Debbie has long had a healthy respect for the value of a buck.

She offers a partial explanation:
"If I hadn't cut my price, I might not have gotten 'Mary, Mary.'" Although a recognized draw, she has seldom been offered important properties such as the Kerr play.

Hooked on Their Ears?

SMITHVILLE, Ark. (AP)— Humans aren't the only creatures who sometimes see the world through rose-colored glasses. Bill Wade of Smithville says he has fitted all his 5,000 chickens with tiny rose-tinted glasses.

Wade says they prevent the chickens from pecking each other.
Egg production is better when the birds are not injured, he adds.

had ceased to be holy under their rule.
The three groups of religious leaders—chief priests, scribes and elders—now find cause to challenge openly Jesus' authority, which they do when He returns to the temple on Tuesday.
He was not of the priestly tribe of Levi, He had had no rabbi-nical training, etc.

Christ's answer is another question, by which the so-called authorities find themselves trapped. They could not say John's authority was from men, for all Jews revered him as a leading prophet; nor could they say it was from God, for they would have to accord Christ Then Christ condemns these authorities in parables. Matthew (21:33-44) records three, but Mark includes here only one.
Here He tells Israel's leaders symbolically that He knows of their plots to kill Him, and warns them of the consequences —for it is Christ, of course, who represents the Son of the Master of the vineyard.

Ohio Driver Point System Under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state
Bureau of Motor Vehicles official thinks Ohio's point system for suspension of driver licenses of habitual traffic law violators is
"ineffective and expensive."

Homer Hall, administrative assistant to the state registrar, gave that opinion Wednesday at a session of the Ohio House Interstate Cooperation Committee. He testified in support of a bill to tighten the Ohio point system.

The bill would require automatic revocation by the registrar
after a driver piles up 12 points
in violations.

Hall said 32 states and the District of Columbia have point system laws and that Ohio is the only one requiring a court hearing before licenses are suspended after accumulation of 12 points.

He said that in 4,435 cases
where drivers had 12 points last year, licenses were suspended in only 2,683 of them; 1,354 drivers
were limited to restricted driving;
278 were placed on probation and 111 cases were dismissed.

Moeller Gets Space Position

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former
Rep. Walter H. Moeller, D-Ohio, has taken a $16,000-a-year post as assistant to the director of the National Space Agency's educational program division.

Moeller, defeated at the polls
last November by Rep. Homer Abele, a Republican, said that his main job will be to deal with state boards of education in connection with educational publications, audio visual presentations, and space mobiles
that take space agency exhibits
around the country.

Moeller said he had to wait several months after his election defeat to undergo job security clearance. "My congressional security was n't good enough," he said.

Film Industry Ponders Pay Slash for Debbie Reynolds

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Every-
one in the film industry has been talking about the high cost of top stars, but no one has done anything about it—until now.

Here is Debbie Reynolds taking
more than a 50 per cent cut in salary, much to the amazement
of the studios—and her agent.

"You can't keep the money anyway; most of it goes to the government," she reasons. "So why not keep it in the business?"

Her move is not completely altruistic. By taking a cut, she has landed one of the prize comedy
roles of the year in the film version of the hit play, "Mary,
Mary." The same strategy appears likely to win her another
plum, "The Unsinkable Molly
Brown."

"The studio bosses can't believe
it," she said on the "Mary, Mary"
set. "We have a conference about
the picture and they ask how much money I want."

"I say, 'how much do you want to pay me?'"

"Finally they say, 'Well, you got $200,000 for your last four pictures, plus 10 per cent of the gross
—that's equivalent to about $350, 000.'"

"I say, 'Yes, but how much do you want to pay me? A hundred thousand?'"

"That's when my agent goes crazy. 'Don't listen to her,' he says."

"I say, 'Yes, but how much do you want to pay me? I'm the one who's going to do the part. A hundred thousand—okay?' They say, 'Okay,'

and we've got a deal."

Her testimony will surely cause
the doubting Thomases to suspect that: 1. Her career is slipping;
2. Her marriage to Harry Karl,
the shoe tycoon, inspires less concern for money.

In reply:

1. The Reynolds career shows
no sign of slippage. She remains one of the top five female draws,
and her work in "How the West
Was Won" impressed producers
with her versatility, as did her recent stint in Las Vegas.

2. There may be some credence
in the fact of her financial independence. But Debbie has long had a healthy respect for the value of a buck.

She offers a partial explanation:
"If I hadn't cut my price, I
might not have gotten 'Mary,
Mary.' Although a recognized
draw, she has seldom been offered important properties such as the Kerr play."

Ohio Women Face Life Sentences

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP) — Two Ohio women have been convicted of armed robbery by a jury which fixed their sentences at life imprisonment.

Barbara Russell, 24, fainted when the Pulaski Circuit Court jury of seven men and five women announced the verdict Thursday after deliberating for more than two hours.

Miss Russell and Mrs. Roy Gill, 25, were convicted of charges stemming from the robbery and slaying last Christmas night of Murrell Trimble, a Somerset television repairman.

Mrs. Gill's husband, convicted of murder and sentenced to life imprisonment for the killing, testified Wednesday for the prosecution. Gill said he had been drinking and did not remember what happened.

Both women said Gill insisted that they stop at Somerset while returning from Tennessee to their homes in Ohio. The Gills are from Dayton, Miss Russell from Troy.

The women said they arranged a roadside meeting with Trimble via telephone, then heard shots while Gill was talking with Trimble in another car.

Defense attorneys said the verdict would be appealed.

No Break Is Seen in Paper Strike

CLEVELAND (AP)—No sign of a break was evident in the deadlock between management and three striking unions as the black-out of Cleveland's two daily newspapers moved into its 16th week today.

Negotiations were scheduled today between publishers representatives and the striking Machinists Union.

The Printers and Mailers Union also are striking against the morning Plain Dealer and afternoon Press and News. The Mailers are to negotiate Saturday.

The Stereotypers Union became the fifth union to accept unconditionally terms of a two-year contract with the papers when members ratified an agreement on a $10 package of wages and fringe benefits Thursday night.

William Pustai, president of the Stereotypers local, said the 75 members voted approval overwhelmingly, although they failed to win a more liberal vacation provision of four weeks after one year of service. Pustai said four weeks' vacation was granted for 20 years' service.

High pressure centered over Ohio will move eastward today, producing warm, southerly winds and considerable sunshine. Warmer air will continue to flow into the Ohio region tonight and Saturday, but little sunshine is expected Saturday as sufficient moisture will be available to produce clouds.

The preliminary outlook favors a good chance for a wet St. Patrick's Day.

Ohio Has Complete Film File Of All Its GI Service Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Military records, sometimes a nuisance for the soldier but often the salvation of the veteran or his loved ones, have moved from files to film in the Ohio Division of Soldiers' Claims and Records.

Ohio's military claims office is the first, and apparently the only one in the nation to have microfilm completely the records of the state's veterans of all wars since the Revolution.

At least says big, dryly humorous William B. Haines, chief of the division, none of the comparable offices in other states has come forward to challenge the claim.

The advantage, Haines says, is that records of an Ohio man or woman's wartime military service can be reproduced in 10 seconds from the microfilm, and rushed out—free—by return mail to those with a legitimate need for copies.

"Situations arise daily, especially in the case of death, where the need is immediate," Haines says. "The undertaker may need to know for military ceremonies or for the gravestone. The widow may immediately need some of the benefits to which she is entitled."

Citing another type of immediate need, Haines recalls a World War II veteran in another state, temporarily deafened in the Normandy invasion, who made claims years later, contending deafness had returned.

Federal officials asked for affidavits from wartime buddies who were with him on D-Day when he first was deafened.

He remembered two who were from somewhere in Ohio. The Soldiers' Claims Division quickly found their records and forwarded their last-known addresses to the claimant.

Historians, those tracing family history and other researchers frequently use the division's records.

Federal record centers also have the information on file, but Haines contends: "Experience has indicated it takes three weeks to three months to obtain a service record from one of these places."

Interestingly, Haines was able to have all the records from a American Revolutionary War soldier (those buried in Ohio) through World War I microfilmed without cost to the taxpayers.

Learning that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) has been assisting its members in tracing family history for religious reasons, Haines—who is not a Mormon—asked if military records in his Statehouse office might be useful.

Mormon churchmen decided they would be, and sent technicians who worked from all of 1958 until last May on the microfilming. Negatives and one print are kept in Utah.

Later, when the World War II and Korean conflict veterans' bonus programs in Ohio began to curtail operations, Haines saw another opportunity. He arranged to have access to the data compiled when veterans applied for their bonuses. The state took bids, and these records were microfilmed at cost of slightly more than $20,000.

On the basis of records, Haines says there were about 26,275 Ohioans in the War of 1812, some 8,200 in the Mexican War, 325,000 in the Civil War, 18,500 in the Spanish-American War, 263,000 in World War I, 868,471 in World War II and 237,404 in Korea.

Lebanon Plant Injunction Is Dismissed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The Production Plating Works of Lebanon has won dismissal of a temporary injunction, granted Jan. 9 to the United Steelworkers' Union, which restrained the firm from employing additional personnel.

In dissolving the action, Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Young said he could find no evidence that Triton Corp. of Indianapolis, new owner of the Lebanon firm, was bound by a USW contract with the prior owner, Huyler's of New York, or that the transfer of ownership was anything but a straight business deal.

Soon after the purchase, Triton interests announced their intention of moving the plant to Indiana and dismissed all but office personnel. They later changed their minds, rehired some employees and began replacing others. The plant originally employed about 180 persons.

The USW sought legal redress, at the same time filing charges before the National Labor Relations Board.

Al Whitehouse, district USW director in Cincinnati, declined comment on the court's action.

If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

Conventional pickups have double-wall construction in cabs, doors, lower side panels. Roofs are insulated. Body floors are select wood, not metal. Tailgate chains are wrapped in rubber. If you'd like to examine or drive a new '63 Chevrolet truck, just call us. We'll be right over.

Ohio Has Complete Film File Of All Its GI Service Records

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Military records, sometimes a nuisance for the soldier but often the salvation of the veteran or his loved ones, have moved from files to film in the Ohio Division of Soldiers' Claims and Records.

Ohio's military claims office is the first, and apparently the only one in the nation to have microfilmed completely the records of the state's veterans of all wars since the Revolution.

At least says big, dryly humorous William B. Haines, chief of the division, none of the comparable offices in other states has come forward to challenge the claim.

The advantage, Haines says, is that records of an Ohio man or woman's wartime military service can be reproduced in 10 seconds from the microfilm, and rushed out—free—by return mail to those with a legitimate need for copies.

"Situations arise daily, especially in the case of death, where the need is immediate," Haines says. "The undertaker may need to know for military ceremonies or for the gravestone. The widow may immediately need some of the benefits to which she is entitled."

Citing another type of immediate need, Haines recalls a World War II veteran in another state, temporarily deafened in the Normandy invasion, who made claims years later, contending deafness had returned.

Federal officials asked for affidavits from wartime buddies who were with him on D-Day when he first was deafened.

He remembered two who were from somewhere in Ohio. The Soldiers' Claims Division quickly found their records and forwarded their last-known addresses to the claimant.

Historians, those tracing family history and other researchers frequently use the division's records.

Federal record centers also have the information on file, but Haines contends: "Experience has indicated it takes three weeks to three months to obtain a service record from one of these places."

Interestingly, Haines was able to have all the records from American Revolutionary War soldiers (those buried in Ohio) through World War I microfilmed without cost to the taxpayers.

Learning that the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon) has been assisting its members in tracing family history for religious reasons, Haines—who is not a Mormon—asked if military records in his Statehouse office might be useful.

Mormon churchmen decided they would be, and sent technicians who worked from all of 1958 until last May on the microfilming. Negatives and one print are kept in Utah.

Later, when the World War II and Korean conflict veterans' bonus programs in Ohio began to curtail operations, Haines saw another opportunity. He arranged to have access to the data compiled when veterans applied for their bonuses. The state took bids, and these records were microfilmed at cost of slightly more than $20,000.

On the basis of records, Haines says there were about 26,275 Ohioans in the War of 1812, some 8,200 in the Mexican War, 325,000 in the Civil War, 18,500 in the Spanish-American War, 263,000 in World War I, 868,471 in World War II and 237,404 in Korea.

Lebanon Plant Injunction Is Dismissed

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — The Production Planting Works of Lebanon has won dismissal of a temporary injunction, granted Jan. 9 to the United Steelworkers' Union, which restrained the firm from employing additional personnel.

In dissolving the action, Common Pleas Court Judge Warren Young said he could find no evidence that Triton Corp. of Indianapolis, new owner of the Lebanon firm, was bound by a USW contract with the prior owner, Huyler's of New York, or that the transfer of ownership was anything but a straight business deal.

Soon after the purchase, Triton interests announced their intention of moving the plant to Indiana and dismissed all but office personnel. They later changed their minds, rehired some employees and began replacing others. The plant originally employed about 180 persons.

The USW sought legal redress, at the same time filing charges before the National Labor Relations Board.

Al Whitehouse, district USW director in Cincinnati, declined comment on the court's action.

If you want a truck that does its work without yelling for attention all the time, buy a "new reliable" Chevrolet.

You have to take care of it; it's a machine. But this isn't a full-time activity. The clear idea is that the truck works for you, not vice versa.

The way to build such a truck is to put more quality into it. For example, Chevrolet doesn't build one type of suspension system for all sizes of trucks. Chevrolet designs suspension systems to fit your need. The light-duty type is strong on comfort. Another kind for heavier trucks stiffens up as you increase your load and vice versa. Make sense?

Conventional pickups have double-wall construction in cabs, doors, lower side panels. Roofs are insulated. Body floors are select wood, not metal. Tailgate chains are wrapped in rubber. If you'd like to examine or drive a new '63 Chevrolet truck, just call us. We'll be right over.

Alaska Gets Sea Highway

First Sleek Vessel
Initiated into Service

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A dream has come true for the young state of Alaska.

For the first time the state's Southeast Panhandle has a highway—a marine highway.

The sleek new motor vessel Malaspina, first of three ships to be delivered for use on the Southeast Marine Highway, initiated the new service last month.

Eventually to be joined by the motor vessels Taku and Matanuska, the Malaspina started her first run from Prince Rupert, B.C.

The 450-mile route from Prince Rupert, the southern terminus of the new system, to historic Skagway, the northern terminus, includes stops at Ketchikan, Wrangell, Petersburg, Sitka, Juneau and Haines.

The remaining two ships are under construction at the Puget Sound Bridge and Drydock Co. yard in Seattle. They are expected to be in service in May.

When all three vessels are operating, there will be six departures a week from Prince Rupert, which can be reached by steamship, rail, air, bus and highway.

The voyage from Prince Rupert takes passengers through spectacular scenery—many islands, towering spruce, hemlock and cedar forests and cliff-hanging glaciers.

This topography made a marine highway necessary. Engineers estimate a regular highway would cost some $350-400 million, if it could be constructed.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill handled the English language like a careful cabinet-maker. He turned it out in all shapes and sizes. But while it was always polished it was seldom waxed.

He gave the language of contempt the sound of sweeping out an alley. He spoke of Karl Marx "in his hovel" and of Hitler as that "squalid caucus boss and butcher."

In his bad moments he used words with the insensitivity of a headshrinker to diminish an opponent, as he did when he called Ramsay MacDonald a "boneless wonder." MacDonald never forgave him.

And there was wit, too. There is the story that when Parliament got a new member named Bosom and Churchill heard about it he said: "What an extraordinary name. Neither one thing nor the other."

But it was in Britain's most delicate time that he bought his place in history with the weapons of language and his indestructible will.

He gave his countrymen a sense of escaping from their own Calvary through a resurrection from agony when he spoke of lifting Hitler's curse from the "brows of mankind" and promised "all will come right" in the end.

He served a tough apprenticeship, self-imposed, in mastering English. He couldn't let it alone. It was a good enterprise. In the end it made him a rich man and one of the great figures of history.

When Churchill went into the cavalry in 1895—he had been too miserable in everything but English to get into a university—he had no clear philosophy, little knowledge of history and probably few ideas he hadn't inherited.

Yet, somehow, he developed a style. Everything he has written has had not only a sense of life but the sound of it.

While he was in the army he was also correspondent for London newspapers and, after covering British fighting in India, Egypt and South Africa, he wrote three books about them and all were successes before he was 30.

He was better known to the British public for his dispatches on battles than he was for his soldiering. Then he became so famous, by escaping from the Boers, that he went home in 1900 and got elected to Parliament.

He was 26 then. He's 88 now. With the exception of two years, when he was defeated, Churchill has been in Parliament since 1900. He didn't get married until he was 34. The reason seems to be he didn't have time.

He worked for a career. When he was invited to a friend's house in the country for a weekend, he took books and papers with him and spent the weekend memorizing speeches. In the beginning he had to memorize them.

Words have failed him perhaps only twice in his lifetime. The first was when, deciding not to memorize any more but talk from notes, he lost the notes.

The second was in 1942 in the House of Commons when, starting to speak about Pierre Laval, the despised French collaborator of Hitler, Churchill said: "I am afraid I have exhausted the possibilities of the English language."

Soviet Red Chiefs Deplore Jazz, but Bands Play On

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—Moving from Stalin-type communism to the present variety, the party leaders are tripping over themselves in trying to keep step with dance music.

The people and many musicians want jazz—the American kind, hot and searing, or moody and blue.

The conscience-keepers of the Communist party say Western jazz is decadent and degrading.

Yet the bands play on.

From Moscow to Tiflis and from Osmk to Tomsk, you can hear dance bands nightly honking away on such American evergreens as:

"When The Saints Go Marching In."

"Take The A Train."

"September in the Rain."

"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes."

"Moonglow."

"It's very hard on musicians," said the leader of a sprightly five-piece outfit playing six nights a week in one of Moscow's brightest night spots. "You see, we don't quite know what to do. The dancers want it. They (the party leaders) don't. We play it, but we keep looking over our shoulders."

He said that it is inconceivable in 1963 that a Soviet musician could go to jail for playing jazz, but he said a man might lose a good job for persisting in playing it—and nothing else.

I talked to a lot of Soviet musicians about Benny Goodman's tour of the U.S.S.R. last year.

"The public loved him," said one. "As for the musicians, we admired his tone and his execution, but he was too old-fashioned far too old-fashioned for us."

What sort of music are Soviet dancers going to dance to—Glinka, Shostakovich, Prokofiev or Chai-kovsky?

Musicians are developing a sort of compromise by stepping up the tempo of Soviet popular songs. Some of them make good listening and good dancing.

Highly popular are "Falling Snow" and "Winter in Leningrad." Best of all is one by the veteran popular composer, Solovie-Sedov called "Podmoskovnie Verchery."

British jazzman Kenny Ball took that tune, rearranged it and recorded it as "Midnight in Moscow." It became a hit in Western Europe and the United States.

Americans traveled 600 billion passenger car miles in 1962 — an average of 3,400 miles for each man, woman and child in the nation, the Automobile Manufacturers Association reports. In 1950 the rate was 2,400 miles per person.

Government Moves To Sell General Aniline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government took its first formal step Thursday in the sale of the big, wartime-seized General Aniline and Film Corp.

It came in the form of publication by Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy of a brief notice in the Federal Register, the official publication for recording actions by executive agencies.

Kennedy announced that he, as head of the Justice Department, intends to sell the 93.5 per cent of the company's stock, seized by the government in 1942 as a German asset.

Such a sale was authorized by Congress last October.

The sale would be in keeping with an agreement announced March 3 by Kennedy in an attempt to end 20 years of court fighting over the ownership of General Aniline, which manufactures chemicals and dyes and whose products include Ansco Photographic Equipment.

The headquarters of the firm, whose value has been generally estimated in congressional discussions at a minimum of $200 million, is in New York City. It has plants in New York, New Jersey, Alabama, California, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Texas.

2 CHS Students Registered in Science Fair

Two students at Circleville High School have been registered through their adviser for the Second Annual Central Ohio Science Fair which will be held March 22-23 in Alumni Gymnasium on the Otterbein College campus.

The students, Fred Rieky, 822 N. Court St., and Peter DeNeef, 987 Lynwood Ave., were endorsed for the Science Fair by their teacher, Sylvia A. Muselman.

Rieky has named his exhibit, "Development of the Heart." The name selected for DeNeef's project is "Magnetohydrodynamic Evaluation of an R. F. Plasma."

The Science Fair is co-sponsored by Battelle Memorial Institute and Otterbein College. Top exhibitors from all high schools in the Central Ohio area have been invited to participate, according to Dr. Lyle J. Michael, director of the Science Fair.

Seven counties — Delaware, Fairfield, Franklin, Licking, Madison, Pickaway and Union — are included in the Central Ohio territory. Two winners of the Science Fair will be awarded an all-expense paid trip to Albuquerque N.M., May 6-11, for the National Science Fair.

Dr. Michael said this year's event promises to be even bigger than the first year when 28 area high schools and nearly 60 exhibitors entered. He stated that he anticipated several more entries from Columbus-area schools before the final cut-off date, Mar. 15.

CHS Proud Owner Of Special Award

Circleville High School has a distinction all its own.

Circleville is the only high school in Ohio to have held continuous accreditation by the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools since the association's origin in 1903.

A certificate of special recognition for the high school was presented yesterday to Richard Snouffer, CHS principal, by Harold J. Bowers, chairman of the Ohio North Central Committee and assistant superintendent of public instruction.

In congratulating the school Bowers said "As a graduate of Circleville High School, it gives me a great deal of personal pleasure to present this certificate indicating that Circleville High School has maintained membership in and accreditation by the North Central Assn. for a period of 50 years or more (about 60)."

Accepting the certificate, Snouffer said: "It is indeed a great honor for CHS... the standards for accreditation are constantly increasing and offer a continuous challenge to the administration, school board and teaching staff in maintaining membership."

In 1903, the initial list of school's accredited by North Central totaled 16. Today, North Central's membership schools are more than 50 per cent of all high schools in the state or 529 member schools.

Since the certificate of membership, which will be displayed in the principal's office, is regarded as a hallmark of quality, Bowers said residents of the community should take special pride in the fact that they have maintained quality programs of education for their children for over a half century.

Bowers said much credit for maintaining such standards of excellence should also be given the board of education, the superintendent of schools, the high school principal and teaching staff.

Only 97 high schools in Ohio have held continuous membership for 50 years or more. Each was presented a certificate recently.

No Clemency Indicated For Doomed Ohio Slayer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No clemency action is contemplated for Donald L. Reinbolt, 30, who is scheduled to die tonight in Ohio Penitentiary's electric chair, the governor's office says.

Reinbolt, from Columbus, was convicted of first-degree murder in the fatal shooting Aug. 28, 1961, of grocer Edgar L. Weaver during a $60 holdup on Columbus' West Side. The execution is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Curtain Callers Present Program For Couple's Club

Representatives of the CHS Curtain-Callers presented a program recently for The Couple's Club of the First Methodist Church.

Jim Stewart was master of ceremonies and also presented a comic monologue on "The Khrushchev Landing." Nancy Yates interpreted, "Daniel—and the Lions in the Den" followed by Ginger Young doing a characterization of "Mat-tie."

Karen Sampson, Mike Lorentz, and Jim and Nancy Yates closed the program with a study in style centering on "The Three Bears." The story was presented in four different methods following the styles of Shakespeare, Time Magazine, the King James Bible and Uncle Remus.

This group will perform for local organizations and anyone interested should call Nancy Yates at GR 4-5391.

LE Braves Try For Second District Title

The Logan Elm High School basketball team will go after a second consecutive Central District basketball championship tonight when it meets Ridgedale at 7 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum at Columbus.

No county team has ever won two Central District titles in succession.

Ashtabula earned a title in 1945 and again in 1960. The only other team to win a championship was Williamsport in 1953.

The Braves will move into the tournament classic tonight at full strength. Gary Hardman, who suffered an attack of appendicitis Tuesday night, has been pronounced ready to play by his family doctor.

The cut on Arnie Gabriel's hand caused no difficulty in the Wednesday win posted by the Braves. He should be in better condition tonight.

With all players in good health, the Braves bench will again be one of the strongest in the tournament.

First line reserves are Terry Anderson, a returning letterman at guard, Tom Huffines, who paced the Logan Elm win Wednesday and Art Murray who is an exceptionally strong rebounder.

Other reserves are Mike Clifton, Glenn Reeser, Bill Wood, and Jim Hicks.

Last year Logan Elm defeated Ridgedale, 59-56, in a rough and tumble finals battle at the Coliseum.

Birdie Sings High Praise For Rookie

APACHE JUNCTION, Ariz. (AP) —Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbets is singing the praises of rookie centerfielder Vic Davalillo. Tebbets is calling him the best young player now performing in spring training in Arizona.

"He's a better player than Vada Pinson was when he came up," Tebbets said Thursday after the Indians beat the San Francisco Giants 7-3. Birdie formerly managed Pinson at Cincinnati.

Davalillo has made several sensational catches in the outfield, including a fantastic over-the-shoulder grab against the Giants in Phoenix.

The Giants showed respect for his arm and he kept them from extra bases on a couple of long distance wallpops.

Woodie Held, Tito Francona and Willie Tasby hammered homers for the Indians, who got five-hit pitching from Barry Latman and rookie right-hander Sonny Siebert for their triumph.

Going into today's exhibition contest against the Houston Colts here, the Indians own a 3-3 record

Owens Looks Very Good To Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jim Owens, erstwhile "bad boy" of the Philadelphia Phillies, looked like money in the bank today to Cincinnati Reds Manager Fred Hutchinson for the longest and best pitching performance so far in the still-young Grapefruit baseball season.

Owens, traded to the Reds last November, hurled five innings and allowed three hits Thursday as the Reds snapped a three-game losing skid to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

Owens walked only two men and fanned one while allowing only two Redbirds to get as far as second base. He now has pitched eight shutout innings this spring and Thursday's hits are the only one he has given up.

Somehow, with a record of two wins and four losses, Owens didn't — or couldn't — make the grade last year.

But on the basis of Thursday's performance, Hutchinson was satisfied. "Pitching like that," he said, "is money in the bank, anytime."

The Reds play the Phillies today.

Al Spangler of the Houston Colts is the toughest player to double up in the National League. He grounded into only one double play in 418 trips to the plate during the 1962 season.

Koufax Shows Excellent Form

Dodger Fireballer Helps Beat Yankees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A winter's rest apparently has worked the Midas touch on the index finger that tarnished Sandy Koufax' golden arm.

The 27-year-old fireballing left-hander with the amazing strikeout record had everyone wondering what all the concern was about as he pitched and five innings and allowed only three hits and an unearned run in the Los Angeles Dodgers' 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees Thursday.

Koufax' performance in the exhibition game at the Yankees' Fort Lauderdale, Fla., home base, marked the first time any Dodger pitcher had attempted to go five innings. It was Koufax' second spring workout. He allowed a run and two hits in a previous three-inning stint.

The circulatory ailment that numbed Koufax' finger last year generally is considered the major reason the Dodgers lost the pennant. Before he was sidelined on July 17 Koufax had won 14 games pitched a no-hitter against the New York Mets and struck out 18 batters against the Chicago Cubs.

The Baltimore Orioles remained the lone unbeaten team with a 15-hit attack that subdued Minnesota 11-7 at Miami. It was the Orioles' fifth victory.

The Chicago White Sox and Kansas City A's won their fifth in six games. The Sox blasted Pittsburgh 16-5 at Fort Myers with a three-homer attack and the A's belted Philadelphia 5-1 at Clearwater behind Ted Bowsfield's pitching and hitting.

Cleveland whipped San Francisco 7-3 at Phoenix, Ariz., Washington beat the New York Mets 4-2 at St. Petersburg, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 3-2 at Tampa, the Los Angeles Angels defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 at Mesa, Ariz., Milwaukee nipped Detroit 4-3 at West Palm Beach and Houston outlasted Boston 12-11 in 11 innings at Apache Junction, Ariz.

Keg Teams Aid March of Dimes

During the recent March of Dimes campaign a number of bowling teams at the Circle D Recreation and Bowling donated money and effort to fight the crippling effects of arthritis, birth defects, and polio.

A total of $70 was collected by the manager Larry Dietrich.

Those teams participating were the Early Monday League, the Late Monday League, the Tuesday Ladies, the Ashville K of P, the Ladies Wednesday afternoon, the Ladies Elks, the Classic League, the Coca-Cola League, the Elks, the Church League, the Dupont Mixed, and the Sunday Evening Mixed.

Larry Priest, the 1963 campaign director, expressed his appreciation to all those who realized the genuine purpose of the National Foundation.

Cincinnati, Duke Both Ready To Vie for National Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati's Bearcats and Duke's Blue Devils, who finished first and second in the final Associated Press college basketball poll of the season, start on the road tonight that they hope will lead to a battle between them for the national collegiate championship.

The Bearcats, champions of the Missouri Valley Conference and aiming for an unprecedented third straight national title, open their NCAA tourney play against Texas, champions of the Southwest Conference. The Blue Devils, kings of the Atlantic Coast Conference, tangle with New York University, an independent power ranked ninth nationally.

The two games highlight a full slate of eight second round games that sees 16 teams in action at four regional sites tonight.

This is the line-up; times are Eastern Standard:

Eastern Regionals, College Park, Md.: Duke, 24-2, vs. NYU, 18-3; West Virginia, 22-7, St. Joseph's, Pa., 22-4.

Midwest Regionals, East Lansing, Mich.: Illinois 19-5, vs. Bowling Green, 19-5; Chicago Loyola, 25-2, vs. Mississippi State, 21-5.

Midwest Regionals, Lawrence, Kan.: Cincinnati, 23-1, vs. Texas, 19-6; Colorado, 18-6, vs. Oklahoma City, 19-8.

Far West Regionals, Provo, Utah: Oregon State, 20-7, vs. San Francisco, 17-8; Arizona State, 25-2, vs. UCLA, 20-7.

Tonight's regional winners play in the quarter-finals Saturday night with the four survivors earning trips to Louisville for the semifinals and final next week, March 22-23.

While the big schools are at it, Wittenberg and South Dakota State battle tonight at Evansville, Ind. for the NCAA small college championship.

Since most everyone regards Cincinnati as a shoo-in over the Longhorns, the Duke-NYU tussle shapes up as perhaps the best of the second round. This one pits Duke's All-America Art Heyman and Player of the Year against NYU's All-America Barry Kramer and many think Duke's 18-game winning streak may go by the boards.

There also is keen interest in Mississippi State's first appearance in the tourney. The sixth-ranked Maroons, champions of the Southeastern Conference, face third-ranked Chicago Loyola, a team that has several Negro starters including All-America Jerry Harkness. In previous years Mississippi State passed up the tourney because of the school's segregation policy.

Wittenberg won its 21st straight game, but had to go overtime to water behind Ted Bowsfield's pitching and hitting.

Cleveland whipped San Francisco 7-3 at Phoenix, Ariz., Washington beat the New York Mets 4-2 at St. Petersburg, Cincinnati edged St. Louis 3-2 at Tampa, the Los Angeles Angels defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 at Mesa, Ariz., Milwaukee nipped Detroit 4-3 at West Palm Beach and Houston outlasted Boston 12-11 in 11 innings at Apache Junction, Ariz.

Bowling Green, the defending champion, had 16 points while Kent State's Golden Flashes were last with 5.

Seven events are scheduled for the final day of the championships Saturday.

Nine-Tenths of Ohio Cage Teams Drop Out of Tourneys

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—More than nine-tenths of Ohio's 916 high school basketball teams were on the sidelines today as the survivors of the lose-and-out tournament trail headed into district tournament finals.

Only 41 of 445 Class A quintets and 46 of 471 of Class AA survived the preliminary firing. All the Class AA Top Ten and four of the leaders in the Class A final Associated Press poll were still on deck with a good chance to reach next week's "sweet sixteen" regional play.

Dresden of Muskingum County (21-2) is the first of the cage squads to qualify for the regionals, reaching the Athens Class A regionals Thursday night with a rousing 55-33 verdict over Zanesville Rosecrans at Marietta that ended the latter's 22-game winning streak.

That left only Racine and North Robinson Colon Crawford unsullied in the smaller school contingent. Five other Class A teams will reach the regionals in tonight's games along with one Class AA squad.

Canton McKinley (18-3) plays Canton South (18-1) tonight at Canton for the honor of being first in the larger school regionals. Mc-

Kinley was the lone school to defeat South in the regular campaign.

Five of the Class AA Top Ten registered victories Thursday night. Second-ranked Cleveland East Tech, state title winner in 1958-59, romped over Cleveland Benedictine 66-45 for a 21-0 record; third-place Dayton Chaminade made it 22-0 with a 64-61 verdict over Dayton Jefferson; fourth rated Columbus East whipped Columbus Wattersen 63-52 for a 20-1 mark; Clayton Northmont, eighth, ran its record to 21-0 with a 72-50 decision over New Lebanon Dixie, last year's Class A champion now graduated to the AA ranks, and Warren Harding, ninth, moved to a 19-3 record by nosing out Salem 57-54.

Of the seven unbeaten teams left in Class AA, four are in the Southwestern District where three have a chance to reach the Cincinnati regionals. One must give way tonight as Middletown, No. 1 in the poll and holder of seven state championships, matches 21-0 records with Cincinnati Colerain.

Mansfield St. Peter (22-0) faces one of its toughest foes tonight as it goes against Sandusky, although the Streaks boast only a 14-7 mark. Marietta (21-0) has Miami Trace (16-4) as tonight's semifinal opponent at Athens.

District finals Saturday will send 10 more Class A and 15 Class AA teams into regional play. The four-team playoffs in Class AA are scheduled next week at Canton, Cleveland, Toledo, and Cincinnati with the smaller schools appearing at Troy, Athens, Lima and Canton.

Irish Unhurried In Picking Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Will Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, with a built-in Fighting Irish name and mug, be Notre Dame's next football coach?

Top brass at Notre Dame, where handy-man Hugh Devore was named Wednesday to a one-year interim term as successor to resigned Joe Kuharich, shrugged off the possibility today.

Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president and chairman of the athletic board, told The Associated Press: "Several of the press seem to be recommending Mr. Daugherty, but we won't even think about a new Notre Dame head coach to succeed Devore for several months. Certainly, one won't be named until after the 1963 football season."

Ohio State Boosts Grid Ticket Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 50-cent increase in the price of stadium box and reserve seat football tickets was announced by Ohio State University Thursday.

The university said the price hike brings the price of tickets in line with seven of the other nine Big Ten Universities.

The price of bleacher seats and the student and faculty-staff season books was not changed. The new ticket prices, approved today by the board of trustees, will be:

Individual stadium reserved seats, $5; boxes, $6; season stadium seats, $25, and season boxes, $30. This year's prices are for five home games. Last year the charge was $27 and $33 for stadium and box respectively for six home games.

Bolt Sets Pace In St. Pete Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—At the brink of 45 Tommy Bolt admits he has mellowed a bit, but he still has the same old ability to hit a golf ball.

Bolt tore into the 6,537-yard Lakewood Country Club course Thursday for a 7-under-par 65 and the first round lead in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open.

"I just got a little lucky," he said as he came off the final green.

Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas said he could have used a little luck. Maxwell finished with a 66, but complained that he missed two golden opportunities for birdies.

LE Braves Try For Second District Title

The Logan Elm High School basketball team will go after a second consecutive Central District basketball championship tonight when it meets Ridgedale at 7 p. m. in the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum at Columbus.

No county team has ever won two Central District titles in succession.

Ashville earned a title in 1945 and again in 1960. The only other team to win a championship was Williamsport in 1953.

The Braves will move into the tournament classic tonight at full strength. Gary Hardman, who suffered an attack of appendicitis Tuesday night, has been pronounced ready to play by his family doctor.

The cut on Arnie Gabriel's hand caused no difficulty in the Wednesday win posted by the Braves. He should be in better condition tonight.

With all players in good health, the Braves bench will again be one of the strongest in the tournament.

First line reserves are Terry Anderson, a returning letterman at guard, Tom Huffines, who paced the Logan Elm win Wednesday and Art Murray who is an exceptionally strong rebounder.

Other reserves are Mike Clifton, Glenn Reeser, Bill Wood, and Jim Hicks.

Last year Logan Elm defeated Ridgedale, 59-56, in a rough and tumble final battle at the Coliseum.

Birdie Sings High Praise For Rookie

APACHE JUNCTION, Ariz. (AP)—Cleveland Manager Birdie Tebbetts is singing the praises of rookie centerfielder Vic Davalillo. Tebbetts is calling him the best young player now performing in spring training in Arizona.

"He's a better player than Vada Pinson was when he came up," Tebbetts said Thursday after the Indians beat the San Francisco Giants 7-3. Birdie formerly managed Pinson at Cincinnati.

Davalillo has made several sensational catches in the outfield, including a fantastic over-the-shoulder grab against the Giants in Phoenix.

The Giants showed respect for his arm and he kept them from extra bases on a couple of long distance walks.

Woodie Held, Tito Francona and Willie Tasby hammered homers for the Indians, who got five-hit pitching from Barry Latman and rookie right-hander Sonny Siebert for their triumph.

Going into today's exhibition contest against the Houston Colts here, the Indians own a 3-3 record.

Owens Looks Very Good To Redlegs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Jim Owens, erstwhile "bad boy" of the Philadelphia Phillies, looked like money in the bank today to Cincinnati Reds manager Fred Hutchinson for the longest and best pitching performance so far in the still-young Grapefruit baseball season.

Owens, traded to the Reds last November, hurled five innings and allowed three hits Thursday as the Reds snapped a three-game losing skid to beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-2.

Owens walked only two men and fanned one while allowing only two Redbirds to get as far as second base. He now has pitched eight shutout innings this spring and Thursday's hits are the only one he has given up.

Somehow, with a record of two wins and four losses, Owens didn't — or couldn't — make the grade last year.

But on the basis of Thursday's performance, Hutchinson was satisfied. "Pitching like that," he said, "is money in the bank, any time."

The Reds play the Phillies today.

Al Spangler of the Houston Colts is the toughest player to double up in the National League. He grounded into only one double play in 418 trips to the plate during the 1962 season.

Dresden of Muskingum County (21-2) is the first of the cage squads to qualify for the regionals, reaching the Athens Class A regionals Thursday night with a rousing 55-33 verdict over Zanesville Rosecrans at Marietta that ended the latter's 22-game winning streak.

That left only Racine and North Robinson Colonel Crawford unsullied in the smaller school contingent. Five other Class A teams will reach the regionals in tonight's games along with one Class AA squad.

Canton McKinley (18-3) plays Canton South (18-1) tonight at Canton for the honor of being first in the larger school regionals. Mc-

Kinley was the lone school to defeat South in the regular campaign.

Five of the Class AA Top Ten registered victories Thursday night. Second-ranked Cleveland East Tech, state title winner in 1958-59, romped over Cleveland Benedictine 66-45 for a 21-0 record; third-place Dayton Chaminade made it 22-0 with a 64-61 verdict over Dayton Jefferson; fourth-rated Columbus East whipped Columbus Watterson 63-52 for a 20-1 mark; Clayton Northmont, eighth, ran its record to 21-0 with a 72-50 decision over New Lebanon Dixie, last year's Class A champion now graduated to the AA ranks, and Warren Harding, ninth, moved to a 19-3 record by nosing out Salem 57-54.

Of the seven unbeaten teams left in Class AA, four are in the Southwestern District where three have a chance to reach the Cincinnati regionals. One must give way tonight as Middletown, No. 1 in the poll and holder of seven state championships, matches 21-0 records with Cincinnati Colerain.

Mansfield St. Peter (22-0) faces one of its toughest foes tonight as it goes against Sandusky, although the Streaks boast only a 14-7 mark. Marietta (21-0) has Miami Trace (16-4) as tonight's semi-final opponent at Athens.

District finals Saturday will send 10 more Class A and 15 Class AA teams into regional play. The four-team playoffs in Class AA are scheduled next week at Canton, Cleveland, Toledo, and Cincinnati with the smaller schools appearing at Troy, Athens, Lima and Canton.

Irish Unhurried In Picking Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Will Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty, with a built-in Fighting Irish name and mug, be Notre Dame's next football coach?

Top brass at Notre Dame, where handy-man Hugh Devore was named Wednesday to a one-year interim term as successor to resigned Joe Kuharich, shrugged off the possibility today.

Rev. Edmund P. Joyce, Notre Dame executive vice president and chairman of the athletic board, told The Associated Press: "Several of the press seem to be recommending Mr. Daugherty, but we won't even think about a new Notre Dame head coach to succeed Devore for several months. Certainly, one won't be named until after the 1963 football season."

Ohio State Boosts Grid Ticket Prices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 50-cent increase in the price of stadium box and reserve seat football tickets was announced by Ohio State University Thursday.

The university said the price hike brings the price of tickets in line with seven of the other nine Big Ten Universities.

The price of bleacher seats and the student and faculty staff season books was not changed.

The new ticket prices, approved today by the board of trustees, will be:

Individual stadium reserved seats, $5; boxes, $6; season stadium seats, $25, and season boxes, $30. This year's prices are for five home games. Last year the charge was $27 and $33 for stadium and box respectively for six home games.

In other athletics business the trustees approved the appointment of Glenn (Tiger) Ellison as freshman football coach. The 32-year-old Ellison is presently head football coach at Middletown High School.

Bolt Sets Pace In St. Pete Open

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—At the brink of 45 Tommy Bolt admits he has mellowed a bit, but he still has the same old ability to hit a golf ball.

Bolt tore into the 6,537-yard Lakewood Country Club course Thursday for a 7-under-par 65 and the first round lead in the $25,000 St. Petersburg Open.

"I just got a little lucky," he said as he came off the final green.

Billy Maxwell of Las Vegas said he could have used a little luck. Maxwell finished with a 68, but complained that he missed two golden opportunities for birdies.

Spring-like Days
Bring Fish Data

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With spring-like days becoming more numerous, more than one warm-weather angler has been checking over the tackle box and the Division of Wildlife is beginning to come up with some fishing reports.

From northeastern Ohio comes the report of some rainbow trout being taken. Dan Armbruster, district fish management supervisor for the division, said trout measuring 20 and 22 inches were taken last week in Conneaut Creek. The trout were stocked by Pennsylvania but have moved into Lake Erie and then back into Ohio streams.

As a result of restoration of strip mined lands in Wayne National Forest in Lawrence County, fishermen have access now to 20 of 28 ponds which have been stocked with mixed fish, bass and bluegills predominating. There are seven additional ponds which will be stocked at the proper time and these 35 ponds average about three acres in size.

There's a new channel catfish record to aim at this year.

The Ohio Record Fish Committee has officially accepted the catch by Elmer Blakerby of Cambridge. Blakerby hauled in a 16-pound channel cat last July 26 in Piedmont Lake. The big one measured 44 inches long 23 1/2 inches in girth.

Beavers have turned a wildlife refuge in Jackson County into a nuisance, according to farmers. A request to destroy a 35-acre beaver pond by breaching the dam has been received by the Ohio Division of Wildlife. Farmers claim the waters are backing up over much tillable land.

However, wildlife officials say the area is a wildlife heaven. Virgil Scott, games management supervisor for the district, reports: "It is excellent waterfowl habitat. Last fall I observed eight species of waterfowl on the beaver pond in October just before the blue-winged teal, green-winged teal, mallards, black ducks, wood ducks, ruddy ducks, coots and hooded merganser.

He suggested possible sale of the land to a conservation club.

Gov. James A. Rhodes has set aside several days in the near future for the observance of conservation work in Ohio.

Ohio wildlife week is March 17-23; conservation month is April 1-30; Arbor Day is April 26 and oil Stewardship Week is May 19-25.

Rotary Club Helps C.H. May Observe His 90th Birthday

HAPPY BIRTHDAY MR. MAY — Charles H. May, local attorney who will observe his 90th birthday Wednesday, was honored yesterday by the Circleville Rotary Club. Special tribute to the dean of the community's legal profession came in the form of a three-tiered birthday cake, prepared by Lindsey's Bake Shop. William D. Radcliff, another prominent attorney and judge, commented on May's many years of service to this area and to the legal field.

Charles H. May, a practicing attorney in Pickaway County since 1895, was guest of honor at yesterday's noon meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club.

The well-known barrister will be 90-years-old this Wednesday. He lives in one of the more quaint historical Circleville homes at 225 S. Court St. Perhaps the oldest practicing attorney in the state, he still maintains regular office hours.

Local Rotarians, anxious to help the noted attorney celebrate his birthday, recognized the occasion with a huge three-tiered cake and the appropriate trimmings. The choice pastry was prepared by Lindsey's Bakery.

The top layer of the cake, crowned with the number 90, was presented to May as a memento. The other layers served as dessert for the Rotary gathering.

EULOGIZING May's active and energetic years in this community was William D. Radcliff, former common pleas and district court of appeals judge. He described the elderly attorney as an example of what a typical Rotarian should be.

Judge Radcliff noted that May has devoted many years to public service including 25 years as a former member of the local board of education. He also served many active years in the Republican Party.

One of his early party functions included serving as a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1904 which nominated Theodore Roosevelt for president.

The friendly attorney was born Mar. 20, 1873, in Ross County, the son of Dr. and Mrs. John B. May. The family later moved to New Holand.

Mr. May, completing his normal school studies, taught for two years, then resumed studies at Ohio Normal University at Ada. In 1894 he entered the Cincinnati Law School and received his law degree the following year.

Following graduation he came to Circleville where he entered into partnership with Charles Dresbach, then judge of the common pleas court. The law firm became known as Dresbach & May. Practising with May today, is Richard W. Penn, mayor of Circleville.

In 1903 Mr. May was married to Pearl Bennett May, a daughter of William Bennett who was born in Pickaway County.

OTHER Rotary business yesterday including the receiving of two new members. They are Boyd Stout and Marshall Douthett, both of Circleville.

Guest speaker for the luncheon session was Mrs. Charles Boggs, guidance instructor at Circleville High School. She explained various guidance functions at CHS under the program which was established here in 1959.

Mrs. Boggs said the program tends to serve as an orientation course for those entering high school. She also explained numerous services guidance aims to provide for local students.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—Lawyers defending a widow in a contest of will suit were to begin presenting their case to a jury of nine men and three women today.

Mrs. Mallory Plans Fighting Extradition

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Willie May Mallory, free from jail after more than a year of trying, says she'll continue fighting a legal battle to prevent being returned to North Carolina for trial on a kidnapping charge.

"It feels wonderful to be relatively free," the 35-year-old Negro woman said Thursday after being released from the Cuyahoga County jail. "Full freedom must really be wonderful."

Mrs. Mallory said she "got up and danced around her cell" when told the Ohio Supreme Court had accepted the $15,000 bond posted for her release.

She is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seniors of Cleveland pending a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on her appeal of an extradition order by former Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. The Seniors have been helping in her defense.

Mrs. Mallory is wanted in Monroe, N.C., on a charge of kidnapping a white couple during a racial disturbance there in August 1961. She has denied the charge.

Case Institute Boosts Tuition Fee for 1964

CLEVELAND (AP) — A full year's tuition at Case Institute of Technology starting with the fall semester in 1964 will cost $1,700, up $300 from what it is now.

The announcement Thursday also said that there will be an increase in the amount of student aid available through loans, scholarship and campus jobs.

Mrs. Olive McIntosh Ward, 56, was left the entire $500,000 estate of W. Ray Ward, retired trucking firm official who died in August 1961, nine months after their marriage.

Contesting the will are Ward's three adult children who claim their father was not competent when he signed it in May 1961.

Mrs. Ward appeared on the stand Thursday during the fourth day of testimony. She contradicted statements of previous witnesses who said Ward was vague, uncomprehending and had memory lapses during late stages of illness. Mrs. Ward said she noticed none of the described symptoms. A psychiatrist testified that Ward did not possess mind or memory to make out a will.

Mrs. Ward worked for Ward as a nurse prior to their marriage.

A previous will provided for the three children who have depicted Mrs. Ward as a "greedy, selfish, dominating woman who took advantage of her position as a nurse" to marry their father.

ALEXANDRIA, Ky. (AP)—The idea that one of 12 defendants charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice was summoned for prospective jury service at his own trial—and collected $5 for the privilege—was just too much for all concerned.

So Special Judge Edward G. Hill of Harlan, acting with the concurrence of the prosecution, upheld a defense motion Thursday and moved the site of a third trial for the group to Pendleton Circuit Court at Falmouth. But, he said, he would not preside over the trial, which he set for April 8.

Defense attorney Daniel W. Davies called Judge Hill's attention to the jury list, Thursday and the fact it included the name of Joseph Schaber, a Newport city commissioner and one of the defendants — and additionally, that of a man who had worked for a gambling casino before such establishments were shut down in 1961.

Later, Robert Campbell, a jury commissioner, insisted that proper procedure had been followed and that "we made every effort to get reputable citizens."

Other defendants are Ralph Mussman, Newport mayor; City Commissioner Roland Vories; former City Commissioner Clarence Lehkamp; Newport Police Chief Upshere White and his predecessor, George Gugel; Leroy Fredericks, former chief of Newport detectives; Police Capt. James Gallucci; detectives Pat Ciafardini, Edward Gugel and Joseph Livingston and former detective Kenneth Jones.

Charges against the 12 stem from gambling and vice conditions which existed in Newport prior to a cleanup in 1961.
